Cincinnati, 13; Kansas City, 1.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 9.—The Reds had on their batting clothes to-day and Kansas City was the unfortunate victim of their prowess. The men from the Kaw, disheartened no doubt by four consecutive defeats at the hands of the Browns, played in a listless manner, Shortstop Herman Long doing most of the work for the visitors. Duryea pitched the first six innings for the Reds and was then replaced by Mullane, Manager Schmelz wishing to make the work somewhat light for each of the twirlers. The game was called at the end of the eighth inning on account of darkness.

The following was the score by innings:

Innings—	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8
Cincinnati	3	3	0	1	0	1	3	2	—13
Kansas Citys	1	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	— 1

Washington, 5; Boston, 3.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 9.—The Beaneaters were again defeated by the tail-enders to-day in a well played game on Washington's part. Krock, Chicago's cast-off pitcher, did himself proud by pitching an excellent game for the Senators, the heavy Boston sluggers making but five hits off his delivery. It was very cold and most of the spectators were enveloped in overcoats. A small crowd witnessed the game.

The following was the score by innings:

Innings—	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Washington	4	0	0	0	1	0	0	0	0	— 5
Boston	0	2	0	0	0	0	0	0	1	— 3

Base hits—Washington, 6; Boston, 5. Errors—Washington, 2; Boston, 4. Batteries—Washington, Krock and Riddle, and for Boston, Daly and Ganzell. Umpire—Ferson.

Columbus, 10; Athletics, 6.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 9.—That the Athletic team is not playing its game was again demonstrated this afternoon, the Association babies winning with a good margin and batting Weyhing out of the box. The latter was replaced by Seward at the end of the sixth inning with but little material effect, however. The home team started in to win in the first two innings and was never headed.

The following is the score by innings:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
Columbus	1	2	0	0	4	0	2	0	1	—10
Athletics	0	0	0	0	2	0	1	2	2	— 6

REFUSED TO SIGN.

President's Day's Men Decide to Start Out for Themselves.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—The Herald announces that Ward notified President Day yesterday that the New York Club had decided to start out for themselves next season and would not sign with the old club. They have been offered plenty of financial backing and have secured grounds near the Polo Grounds. They would not make an offer for the New York franchise. Mr. Day, it is said, thinks seriously of abandoning the present organization and going in with the boys.

Senator Hearst's Ill-Luck.

It was, perhaps, necessary, as a proof of Senator Hearst's continued ill-luck, that his colt Tournament should stumble in the Titan Stakes on Saturday, and thereby lose the $15,000 prize. It was probably another essential feature of his track misfortunes that his filly Golden Horn should finish first at Morris Park on Saturday and be placed second by the judges. The California Senator is most certainly not sitting in the lap of good fortune.

JEROME PARK, N. Y., Oct. 9.—The fields today were enormous. A starter was probably never called upon to get off a larger field than started in the first event, and with one or two exceptions every race on the programme had a number of starters. In the fifth race Æolian led all the way into the stretch, having a lead of five lengths at the three-quarters. Christian ran neck and neck with Æolian as the stretch was entered, Diablo being third. Christian captured the race by two lengths, Diablo finishing second.

The last named got away in the lead, with Strideaway second, and Dunboyne third. At the quarter Bronzomarte was still leading, with Gorgo second and Strideaway third. At the half the order was the same, with Bronzomarte two lengths in the lead. Strideaway was running neck and neck with him at the three-quarters and into the stretch, Gorgo being third. Bronzomarte outfooted Strideaway, but Gorgo beat him by a head. Latonia Races.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

LATONIA TRACK, Oct. 9.—The track was fast to-day and the racing good. The first two races were captured by the favorites Lottie S. and Pritchett. In the third event there were only three starters: Plunder, Littroil and Longbrook. Littroil was a strong favorite, but Longbrook won. In the fourth race Dilemma was backed strongly by the talent and the result verified the correctness of their judgment. Tom Hood got off first and led all the way to the stretch where Queen of Trumps showed her head in front. Dilemma passed both of them before the wire was reached, winning handily. Billy Pinkerton and Unlucky, the two horses who fell in a race the other day and seriously injured Magee, the rider of the former, and slightly hurt Brown who had the mount on the latter were both starters in the fifth race and acquitted themselves most creditably. Jockey Brown was again up on Unlucky. The horses got off with Billy Pinkerton in the lead. At the quarter Pinkerton was leading with Argenta second. At the half Pinkerton and Unlucky were in the van. They retained their positions into the stretch and Pinkerton was never headed. Argenta beat Unlucky for the place in a close finish. The sympathy of the crowd was with Unlucky and Jockey Brown, but the judgment of those with whom the decision rested was that Argenta was first under the wire. In the last race they all got off in a bunch. J. B. Freed led at the quarter, Camilla second. It was the same into the stretch. Sis O'Lee, the favorite, and Chantress, who sold in the field, then came on and finished in the order named.

How Owen Was Beaten.

The claim of the friends of J. Owen, Jr., of the Detroit Athletic Club when he fell in the 100-yard race at the recent Canadian championships, says the New York Star, was that the spikes of his running shoes were too long for the hard track and that had he been equipped with more appropriate ones he would not have stumbled. It now comes to light that after the race the spikes of his shoes were compared by several interested parties with those of the shoes of A. F. Copland and F. Westing and all three pairs were found to be the same. Ever since the race a Detroit journal has alluded to it as being a fluke simply on account of Owen being handicapped in the above-mentioned way. It is thought by the knowing ones who saw the race that Owen was very much off his form, for the mere fact of his showing such nervousness at the start shows how he was unstrung. He is a new man in running, and when he won the 100-yard championship of America he had no reputation at stake and probably was enabled to run such a good race then simply for that reason. Afterward, when he saw what a great man he was in the way of sprinting, he probably looked forward to the Canadian championship meeting, knowing that he had a reputation to defend. Being unused to the feeling he went all to pieces, and before he fell in the race, which was about forty yards from home, he was so far back that further pursuit would have been useless. The probabilities are that the fact of having been beaten since he won the American championship will enable him to walk up to the next race with enough freedom to show a good performance.

Pugilistic Notes.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 9.—The California Athletic Board of Directors at a meeting held last night decided to match Geo. La Blanche against an unknown in January for a large purse, the amount of which has not been made public. By many it is believed that the unknown is none other than Jack Dempsey. Others say it is Toff Wall, the English middleweight champion.

Jimmy Carroll is overjoyed at Meyers' acceptance of his defiance. Mexico will in all probability be selected as the battle ground.

Tommy Warren yesterday met Jack Dempsey in a saloon and asked in an insolent way if Dempsey had called him a coward and fakir. Dempsey said yes. Thereupon Warren led with his right for the Nonpareil's face, but fell short. Dempsey sprang up and in a half dozen blows stretched Warren on the floor in a demoralized condition, so that his backer had to carry him out of the saloon.

A Serious Wreck.

TOPEKA, Kan., Oct. 9.—A freight train on the Missouri Pacific stopped a few miles west of Astor, Greely County, yesterday, for some slight repairs. The stop was made on an incline and when the engine started off suddenly the train broke in two. The rear part started down grade and crashed into a westbound passenger. The caboose and one freight car were pitched up over the passenger engine and caught fire. C. P. Orwan, Mayor of the town of Horace, was asleep in the caboose and was burned to death. The people on the passenger train had all been warned in time and left the train. The Coroner's jury returned a verdict that it was an unavoidable accident.

Athletic Sports and Base Ball.

To-morrow, commencing at 2:30 p. m., the Missouri Amateur Athletic Club will give an athletic meeting at Sportsman's Park. There will be ten events, consisting of foot racing, jumping, etc., and the day's sports will conclude with a game of base ball between the Missouri Amateur Athletic Club base ball team and the Nationals of East St. Louis.

CLAIMED BY TWO FATHERS

A Sensational Scene in the Marriage License Office This Morning.

The Awful Plight of Fredericka Schaeffer, a 17-Year-Old Girl.

She Applies for a License to Marry Frederick E. Grobe and Is Confronted by Her Father, Whom She Had Never Seen—He Had Tricked Her Mother Into a Mock Wedding, Then Deserted Her to Run Away With One of Her Daughters—The Mother of the Girl, Now Married Again, Resists His Efforts—The Father and the Stepfather Nearly Come to Blows—The Girl Gets Her License and Goes With Her Lover to Be Wed.

There was an exciting scene in Recorder Hobbs' office this morning which nearly resulted in bloodshed, when two men claimed to be the father of a young lady about to be married, one ordering the clerk to refuse the license and the other ordering him to issue it. This sensational affair was the denoument of a strange mixture of lives extending over a period of twenty-five years.

To start at the beginning: Fredericka M. Weige was a pretty German girl about thirty years ago in a small hamlet in Germany, and was married to a young man named Carl Dorman. They had three children, and when the youngest was three years old they moved to New York City where a few years later Mr. Dorman died. Mrs. Dorman wore widow's weeds for about a year when she married a man named Frederick Schaeffer, a German, who also came from the same province of Germany. About eighteen years ago Mr. and Mrs. Schaeffer came to St. Louis with the three children by her former marriage, and shortly after her arrival here she gave birth to another child, a girl, who was christened in the Independent Evangelical Protestant Church on Eighth and Walnut streets. About two years after the birth of the child, Fredericka, so Mrs. Schaeffer states, Mr. Schaeffer made the startling revelation to her one night that he was that the paper or license she held was a mere sham, and the person who performed the marriage ceremony was not a minister or a person authorized to perform a marriage ceremony. In other words it was a mock marriage. Mrs. Schaeffer states that as soon as she learned this, she left her husband, but it seems he left her, as only a few days later he ran away with her oldest daughter by her first husband, Dorman, and married her. That was about fifteen years ago and he now has three children by this wife. Being left without support, Mrs. Schaeffer went to work and became a cook in Paul Adams' restaurant on Market street. She supported herself and Fredericka, whom she raised under the name of Weige, her maiden name. Her other two daughters had grown up and were married. Mr. Schaeffer was all these years living in quiet and ease with the daughter of the woman he deceived by the mock marriage while she struggled on to keep herself and her child alive. They did not see each other for about fifteen years and Fredericka was never told of her father and never met him. She grew up to be a pretty miss and is now 17 years and 6 months old. On July 24, 1884, five years ago, Mrs. Schaeffer married Phillip Morenz, a laborer of steady habits, who knew her history and trials, and she went to keep house for him at 4244A North Market street. She never expected to meet or see Mr. Schaeffer or his wife, her daughter, again. She was disappointed in this, as the meeting to-day showed. Fredericka had met a young man named Frederick E. Grahe, 23 years of age, and a citizen of Franklin County, Mo., who made repeated visits to this city, and it was while on one of these visits he made the acquaintance of the young lady. They fell in love, and he proposed. Her mother and stepfather, Mr. Morenz, consented to the union and to-day was the day set for the ceremony. About 11 o'clock Mr. Morenz, Mrs. Morenz, formerly Schaeffer, her daughter Fredericka and young Frederick Grahe appeared and applied for a license. They had no sooner made the request than an elderly man marched boldly in, and, pointing to the young girl, said:

NOT LEGALLY MARRIED TO HER;

IN THE MARRIAGE LICENSE OFFICE

"This is my daughter and I object to the marriage. You will not issue a license to her."

It was Mr. Schaeffer, he who for fifteen years had not seen his child, and whom she did not know. The party were dumbfounded for a moment but Miss Schaeffer immediately recognized her mock husband, and turning upon him said:

"You have nothing to say here. Go!" and she pointed toward the door.

"I am the father of this girl, and she shall not get married."

"And I am the stepfather of this child, and say she shall get married," retorted Mr. Morenz, who had now been thoroughly worked up over the unexpected interruption and the tone of the stranger.

"She shall not get married without my consent. Mr. Clerk" said Shaeffer, "this is my daughter, and she must not be given a license."

"Mr. Clerk," said Morenz, "this is is my stepdaughter and this is her mother. You will please issue the license for her and this young man. Don't mind him he has nothing to say."

Schaeffer had worked himself into a rage and it looked as though he would pounce on Mr. Morenz any minute. Morenz turned and prepared for a pugilistic difficulty if Schaeffer continued his words, but they did not come to blows, as Recorder Hobbs appeared at this moment and requested the parties interested to explain the situation. The girl was asked first if Mr. Schaeffer was her father.

"I don't know the man," she said, "I never saw him before in my life. He is not my father."

Mrs. Morenz was then asked to explain the situation and she told briefly what has been narrated here, admitting that Schaeffer was the father of Fredericka, but that she had never been married to Schaeffer, and she had never told Fredericka who her father was. She was too young at the time Schaeffer ran away, to remember him and she had been careful that she did not see him since.

told his part of the story and Schaeffer, who had been fuming and ranting about, was permitted to tell his. The result of it all was that a marriage license was issued to the young couple, to which was adjoined an affidavit by the girl's mother which read as follows:

"And I further swear that I have never been lawfully married to one by the name of Frederick Schaeffer, and I for the last twelve years have been sole guardian of the person of my daughter, Fredericka."

She having been the guardian and the father not having given anything to the support of the child, Mr. Hobbs felt justified in issuing the license, much to Mr. Schaeffer's disgust.

Advancing the Price of Oysters.

CAMBRIDGE, Md., Oct. 9.—The high price of oysters in the shell, owing to their scarcity, has made it necessary for packers to put up prices and looking to this end there was a meeting of Peninsula packers at Seaford yesterday, at which members of twenty-five firms, representing the trade in Cambridge, Oxford, St. Michaels, Crysfield, Marion and Seaford, were present. The organization will be known as the Peninsula Oyster Packing Association, and the committee appointed by President W. H. Stevens of Seaford will report at another meeting to be held in Seaford next Tuesday, plans for the operation of its business.

IN SESSION AT CARBONDALE.

The Southern Illinois Annual Conference—Pastors to Be Changed.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

CARBONDALE, Ill., Oct. 9.—The Southern Illinois Annual Conference, convened in the new M. E. Church here Tuesday, for its thirty-eighth session. The conference is divided into six districts: Alton, Lebanon, Mt. Carmel, Mt. Vernon, Olney and Vandalia. It has 151 ministers engaged in active work, and a number who are otherwise employed: Dr. R. Allen, President Southern Illinois Normal University, at Carbondale; Rev. W. H. Scott, Chaplain United States Army; W. W. Edward and E. C. Ferguson, professors in McKendree College, at Lebanon. Last year there was paid the ministers of this conference, $83,846. Tuesday was occupied in examining the undergraduates and candidates for admission into the conference. Of the latter there was an unusually large class. After a prayer service, which lasted one hour, Bishop Murrell, assisted by the presiding elders, administered the sacrament of the Lord's Supper, after which the secretaries of the various interests of the church were elected. The roll by districts was then called, which showed an unusually large attendance for the first day. The benevolent collection of the conference will show a large increase, as will all the interests of the church. Considerable anxiety is manifested upon the part of the pastors of the leading churches, owing to the change made in the law, a year ago, by the general conference, which gives the bishops the right to retain a pastor in one charge for five consecutive years. This change from the three-year term is not regarded with much favor by the ministry of the West. There will be more removals this year than last year. Many of the better ministers have asked their presiding elders to have them removed. Summit Avenue Church in East St. Louis will be hard to fill. The church there is divided. Petitions were circulated asking that Rev. S. P. Chapin be re-appointed to that church. Mr. Chapin has left the ministry and is reading law, and positively refused to accept the appointment. Rev. Mr. Larrabee, who has supplied the pulpit for the past four months, has friends who have circulated a petition to have him re-appointed. Rev. O. H. Clark, D. D., of Belleville, will be changed at his own request. Carlyle, Greenville, Salem, Centralia, Olney, and Alton pastors will be changed. The cabinet held its first meeting this afternoon.

WANT TO LYNCH HIM.

The Danger Threatening Samuel Mayhom, a Dying Kentucky Murderer.

PIKESVILLE, Ky., Oct. 9.—Samuel Mayhom, one of the Hatfield-McCoy gang, under sentence of death here, is dying of consumption. He can not sit up and the jailor has taken him to his own home that he may die in comfort. A movement is afoot to lynch Mayhom, and it is said all the arrangements are complete, his enemies declaring he shall not die a natural death. This week's issue of the local paper savagely denounces the proposition as a piece of barbarism and exhorts all decent people to see that Mayhom, who can not possibly live until the day set for his execution, is let alone. There will be trouble of a serious nature, it is feared.

The Report Contradicted.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 9.—The report that Samuel Moyhom, one of the Hatfield-McCoy gang of outlaws, is about to be lynched is contradicted by the Mountain Monitor, the Pikeville paper. It says he is "sick unto death," and has been moved to the jailer's residence, and adds: "But persons embittered by the past and from whose hearts every vestige of human sympathy seems to have been driven by the ghostly specters of sorrow in the days forever gone, object to the prisoner being kept outside of the jail walls."

Nor has the Monitor heard of the alleged murder of a bridal couple and the officiating minister, said to have occurred in Pike County ten days ago, an account of which was telegraphed to the newspapers of the North and by them disseminated through the press associations.

HYDE PARK'S SENSATION.

Alleged Elopement of Mr. Emile Green With His Half Brother's Wife.

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 9.—Hyde Park society is greatly excited over the supposed elopment of Emile Green, a Chicago real estate dealer, whose residence is in that fashionable district, with Mrs. C. F. Bortell, wife of his half brother. The two families lived close together on Prairie avenue, and have always been on the most intimate terms. About two weeks ago Green told his wife he was not feeling well, and would run out to his Wyoming ranch for a short time. The day after he left Mrs. Bortell told her husband she wished to visit friends in Indiana, and left the same day. Green wrote to his wife from Omaha, telling her he was feeling better, but would go on to the ranch, and enclosed her the key to a box in the safe deposit vault. A day or two later a servant found in Mrs. Bortell's room a letter to that lady from Green, couched in the most endearing terms, and the secret was out. On opening the box in the safe deposit vault Mrs. Green found a letter from her husband saying he never expected to return; that he had paid up all his debts and had little money left, and advising her to sell the house she is living in. No trace has yet been found of the couple, although an active search is being prosecuted by Mr. Bortell.

A FAST STEAMER.

The Successful and Speedy Trial Trip of the Silver Crescent.

DUBUQUE, Io., Oct. 9.—The steamer Silver Crescent made her trial trip yesterday with a feathering stern wheel. The trial was entirely satisfactory. With only forty pounds of steam pressure the boat made eighteen miles an hour against the current, the wheel revolving only twenty three times a minute. Instead of the sixteen paddles or buckets usual on river steamers, this wheel has only ten. By an ingenious system of cogwheel gearing these paddles always strike the water vertically and pass through it horizontally, leaving again in a vertical position. The old wheels with stationary paddles enter the water with the buckets at an angle of forty-five degrees, striking the surface with a force that jars the whole boat. With the new wheel there was no preceptible jar when the boat was running fifteen miles an hour. The paddles on the old wheels also leave the water at an angle, carrying the great bulk of water up with them. With the new wheel there is no power lost in this way. It is estimated that the new wheel will save one-third of the total power now necessary to run a boat.

Judge Bunce, 102 Years Old.

PORT HURON, Mich., Oct. 9.—Judge Bunce, as he was familiarly called, died at his home in this township yesterday. Had he lived until November 14 next, he would have been 102 years old. His full name was Zephaniah Webster Bunce. He was born at Hartford, Conn., November 14, 1787. The famous Charter Oak stood on what was the original Bunce farm. Judge Bunce occupied many public offices, being on the bench of the County Court in 1834, and for fifteen years thereafter and was a member of the Territorial Legislature from 1821 to 1824.

Ten Thousand Clams.

The second annual clam bake of the P. A. T. Club will take place next Sunday at Morschel's Grove, St. Paul Station, on the Missouri Pacific Railroad. A special train leaves Union Depot at 7:45 a. m. and will return to the city by 6:30 p. m. The club has made extra preparations for the occasion. Ten thousand of clams and hundreds of pounds of meats have been ordered with liquid refreshments. There will be a full band of music, several male quartettes and a number of novelties. Tickets can be procured from any of the members.

The Duchess Wants Money.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—The Herald says that the Duchess of Marlborough has ordered all her New York City real estate to be sold at auction.

THE EIGHT-HOUR RULE.

ADVERSE REPORT OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE OF THE TYPOTHETÆ.

Its Introduction in Publishing Houses and Printing Offices Strenuously Opposed—The Question of International Copyright Discussed in Convention—The Passage of the Proposed Law Recommended.

LAST night and this morning a large number of the delegates to the Third Annual Convention of the United Typothetæ of America, who were unable to attend the meeting of yesterday, arrived in the city, and will participate in the future deliberations of the assembly. The report of the Executive Committee read yesterday afternoon was the subject of much discussion, and its consideration will probably lead to much debate. The point upon which the greatest interest is centered is that in relation to the eight hour law.

THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE REPORT.

The committee reported that the Confederated Assembly of Trades Unions had declared that the eight hour law as regards its members would go into effect on May 1, 1890, and that a strike would be inaugurated in such establishments as refused to comply with the rules laid down. The committee, in view of this action, recommend the adoption of the following resolution:

Resolved, That, in the opinion of the United Typothetæ of America, there is nothing in the state of the printing trade of the country at this time which justifies any reduction in the hours of labor, and we therefore recommend each local Typothetæ to take such action as, in its opinion, may be necessary to meet the issue if it should be seriously presented.

The intimation that this action was contemplated by the Trades Unions comes from the St. Louis Typothetæ. A well-known publisher said: "A great many of our workmen are members of the Trades Unions, and I believe that unless something is done that we will have a great strike on our hands. The book hands here and in Chicago are very sore over their defeat in 1887, and I know that preparations have been in progress for some time contemplating a strike in May next, unless the eight-hour law is adopted by all master printers. I do not see how we can do it here. Certainly we cannot if other cities do not take the same course. As it is now, St. Louis pays better wages than any city in the Union, with the exception of San Francisco and Paris, Tex. This did not save us from a strike before and it may not again. I hope that none will be ordered, but if it is we must be prepared to fight. As President McNally stated in his address few master printers were making much money and we cannot afford to run eight hours. That question is the one of most importance now before the convention and we must make ready for a struggle if it is forced on us."

MORE APPRENTICES WANTED.

The question of a better apprentice system than that now in vogue was insisted upon in the committee's report. The trade was supplied, it was said, by inefficient workmen, and the difficulties in the way of obtaining skilled workmen were daily growing greater. The cause of this was the limited number of apprentices received and the insufficiency of the means of recruiting the ranks of the workmen now employed.

The committee further reported that there were now twenty-one associations in good standing and over five hundred firms were represented. A number of additional names were reported favorably upon.

The convention re-convened this morning in the Ninth street hall of the Odd Fellows' building. President McNally called the convention to order at 10:45 o'clock. The Committee on the International Copyright Question submitted the following report:

INTERNATIONAL COPYRIGHT.

"Resolved, That we appoint a delegate to attend the next convention of the International Copyright League in New York and that we record our approval of the principle of international copyright law, and especially of the provision that all copyright books shall be printed in the United States."

An amendment was offered that the approval of the principle be left out and that the resolution read simply that a delegate be appointed.

A discussion then ensued. Messrs. Donnelly, W. J. Gilbert, Richard Ennis, Theodore L. De Vinne and P. J. Pettibone made speeches on the subject. Mr. De Vinne was the principal advocate of the resolution and made a good address. Mr. Richard Ennis made a forcible argument in favor of the adoption of the amendment. When the question was put to a vote the amendment was lost, and the resolution as originally presented carried. Mr. Theodore L. De Vinne was appointed the delegate to the convention.

The committee appointed to devise means for a reduction on the rate of insurance reported that it was believed that the revolution between the mutual and stock companies now going on would settle the question of rates, and consequently any action by the Typothetæ at the present time was unnecessary.

The committee on the eight-hour law question asked for more time to report, and was given until to-morrow morning.

UNJUST PRACTICES.

The committee to which was referred the "unjust practices" of certain type foundries and syndicates in printers' supplies made an important report. It was as follows:

Your committee to whom were referred the matter of "unjust practices" of certain type foundries, press builders and dealers in printers' supplies generally, beg leave to report that:

Whereas, Many instances have been reported to them in which syndicates have been formed of the manufacturers of the various lines required in the establishment of printing plants, which have furnished to irresponsible parties complete outfits to be paid for by the setting aside of a certain proportion of the gross receipts every month, and others where less than 5 per cent of the total purchase has been paid in cash, and

Whereas, From time to time printing offices and binding establishments become financially embarassed and foreclosed by manufacturers and instead of being offered at public sale are continued in operation by the mortgage holders to the detriment of the craft, therefore be it

Resolved, That in the opinion of the United Typothetæ of America the practices referred to above meet with the unqualified condemnation of this body and result in the permanent and direct injury of the legitimate trade and also in absolute loss to the manufacturers who pursue such courses.

Resolved, That we condemn the private sale of such plants to irresponsible parties under new mortgages, or the continual operation of the same by an agent for the manufacturers, thus antagonizing the interests of their best customers, and believe that the public sale of such establishments in open market would result in greater profit finally to the mortgage holder, and would largely benefit the trade in general.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent by the Recording Secretary to each of the prominent press builders, type founders, ink manufacturers and manufacturers of printing material throughout the country.

EVERETT WADDY,
C. S. MOREHOUSE,
R. P. STUDLEY.

After the consideration of some minor matters the convention then adjourned until to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock.

A RIVER EXCURSION.

At 2:30 this afternoon the visiting delegates were escorted to the steamer Annie P. Silver by members of the St. Louis society, and a trip was taken on the river. The boat first steamed south, and then turned upstream, ascending the river as far as Alton. An elaborate dinner was prepared, and heartily discussed by all present. The party will return to the city by moonlight. To-morrow the delegates will visit the Exposition, and in the evening attend a reception at the residence of Geo. D. Barnard.

The Carondelet W. C. T. U. has adopted resolutions of regret on the departure of Rev. Lyman W. Allen, who was one of the earnest workers in the cause of temperance in the South End.

THE INEXPENSIVE FAKE.

HOW THE "REPUBLIC" MADE A "SPREAD" ON THE V. P. BALL.

A Bogus Collection of Pictures Purporting to Be Sketches of Prominent Ladies and Gentlemen Taken Last Night at the Veiled Prophet's Reception—Some of the Guests in Europe To-Day, Some in the East, Some in the Far West—None of Them Were at the Ball—Very Cheap Journalism.

There appears in the Republic this morning a number of cuts purporting to be the likenesses of different ladies and gentleman who attended the Veiled Prophet ball last night. Fortunately the cuts have the names of the people they are supposed to represent under them or the ladies and gentlemen who have been so "honored" would probably have remained forever in ignorance of the fact that their pictures had appeared in the columns of that paper. There seems to be no question about some of the sketched people having been at the ball. They were seen there by their friends and admit themselves that they were present. Others who are in Europe and various parts of the United States are not in the city to-day to affirm or deny the caricatures of the Republic to the effect that they attended the ball last night. How his "reliable family paper" found people at the ball who were not in the city is hard to explain. There is a very general impression, however, that they have been guilty of what is called in common parlance

A "FAKE."

They appear to have gathered all the photographs they could and published the batch as pictures of people who attended the ball. It filled space for the sheet, and was a cheap, but risky way of making a splurge and appearing enterprising. In justice to those whose pictures appeared it should be stated that few of them were aware that the paper had their photographs.

One of the ladies who has a photograph of herself published as being at the ball is Miss Dora Harrison, who is at present sojourning in Europe, where she has been for some time. Of course the Republic must have had a sketch artist at the ball to draw her picture, and no doubt the young lady will be delighted to learn that she is home again should any friend take the trouble to mail her a copy of the paper.

Mrs. Andrew Warren, who is in New York on her way home from Europe, is another lady who will be somewhat surprised to find by the published pictures of "The Morning Take" that she was at the ball. It was certainly a startling piece of news to her acquaintances in this city.

Miss Daisy Billon, who is in the East and has been for almost four months, was also at the ball last evening according to the reliable family journal.

Miss Mimi Flannigan was out in Montana yesterday but appears to have rushed here in time for the ball last night according to the pictures of the same vivacious street. Miss Flannigan is again back in Montana this morning. A trip of 4,000 miles in twelve hours is pretty rapid traveling, even for an imaginative newspaper artist to force a young lady to undergo.

There also appears a picture labeled Miss Rex. It bears a slight, a very slight resemblance to Miss Nancy Rex who left for Philadelphia Sunday. Her sudden return will be a surprise to her friends.

Miss Nellie Griffiths is another young lady who had her photograph published as being at the ball without even being in the city.

Miss Mary Dameron learned for the first time this morning that she had attended the ball last night and had been duly sketched.

Mrs. Pierre Chouteau does not know that she was there, but the Republic does and so informed her this morning by publishing her photograph.

Miss Ella Wyman was illustrated without going to the ball.

Mrs. Henry Overstolz was at home entertaining her sister, Mrs. Henry V. Lucas, who is visiting her and some friends, but the Republic artist sketched her at the ball.

Miss Elise Fabian is another young lady who appears in the ball-room photographic gallery of the Republic, and yet she was not present last night.

Miss Virgie Conn also learned for the first time, on beholding her picture in the paper to-day, that she had attended the ball.

Miss Susie Cabanne will find it hard to convince her friends that she was not at the ball when the Republic found and sketched her there.

Miss Julia Smith's friends looked for her in vain at the ball, but the Republic artist found and sketched her there, and she now knows she was there, though she didn't until this morning.

AMONG THE GENTLEMEN

the picture of Mr. Adolphus Busch looms up conspicuously, as he is in Europe he is not yet aware of having tripped the light fantastic in St. Louis last night.

Mr. Christy Church is shown with his curly locks, but Christy failed to materialize at the ball last night.

Mr. Aleck Kayser is informed for the first time by the publication of his picture this morning that he was at the ball last night.

Mr. Ed Dameron felt that he had learned something he never knew before when he saw by the Republic's pictures this morning that he was at the ball last night.

The list given contains only a few of those whose pictures are printed as being at the ball without their being near the hall. It is by no means a complete list, for of all the photographs published it is safe to say that not one-half of the people represented were there. The whole article was a great "fake," and the man who did the work did not even possess the merit of being a good guesser.

The paper also publishes two pictures of Miss Susie Turner, each equally bad, but they help fill out space.

Reunion of Frank Blair's Old Regiment.

The third annual reunion of Frank Blair's old regiment, the First Missouri, will be held this evening at Central Turner Hall, on Tenth, near Market street, and many of the comrades of that illustrious body of the Union army, which participated in over one hundred battles and skirmishes and which became distinguished for its discipline and efficiency will be present upon the occasion. Some of the veterans of that command are here from distant places. Among those here to attend the reunion are J. W. Tallman from Crocker, Mo., afterwards Captain of the Fiftieth Missouri Infantry, and J. D. Brown of Iberia, this State, a member of Col. A. W. Murphy's command, Battery F, First Missouri Light Artillery, and Conrad Rhein of Belleville, Ill., formerly of Hescock's Battery.

Col. G. Harry Stone is President and Barney Seaman Secretary of the association, and, with Col. Murphy, they hope to meet all their surviving comrades in arms this evening.

Fell Thirty-Five Feet.

At 7:40 o'clock this morning, John Lawler, a laborer 35 years of age, while at work on the new building at 1872 South Seventh street, fell from the attic steps to the yard beneath, a distance of thirty-five feet. He was removed in an ambulance to the City Hospital, when it was found that he had sustained a fracture of two ribs besides internal injuries of a more serious nature. Lawler lives at 1402 North Twelfth street.

The stable and carriage house of Wm. Forbes on the Lamal Ferry road, was totally destroyed by fire about 2:40 o'clock this morning. The damage is estimated at nearly $1,200. Cause of fire unknown.

Weather forecast for twenty-four hours, commencing at 8 a. m. to-day for Missouri: Fair; stationary temperature; southerly winds.

THE closing of the public schools to-morrow is a graceful recognition of the importance of Thursday in Fair week.

THE loss of SAM RANDALL would be a loss to the Democratic party, but the loss of its protectionist principles will be a heavier loss to the Republican party.

TO-MORROW will witness a notable event in the history of journalism in the laying of the corner stone of the new building for the New York WORLD, a building which is promised to be the finest newspaper building in the world. The POST-DISPATCH is growing daily more and more proud of its offspring.

THE income from the real estate of the late HENRY SHAW is reported at $95,000. Many an ambitious college is carried on with a smaller income than that left for the support of St. Louis' grand botanical garden.

THE delegates to the International Congress are traveling through the manufacturing districts of New England. Their appearance is a protest against that absurd tariff to which the New England manufacturers have heretofore pinned their faith, but on which they are now weakening.

THE first step towards the erection of a monument to JAMES B. EADS has been taken by one of the local singing societies. The city of St. Louis loses nothing by honoring its great men, and a statue of EADS would be not out of place in the city which has erected monuments to his friends, BATES and BLAIR.

ABOUT the meanest form of robbery on record is that of allowing non-commissioned officers to maintain lotteries and gambling tables with which to fleece recruits at military stations. The power of a non-com over a private almost amounts to the power of life and death, and the pretense that a game between him and one of his subordinates is a perfectly fair and voluntary amusement is a piece of impudence which merely aggravates the original offense.

IF there was any lingering respect for Gen. BOULANGER among Americans it would disappear before the spectacle of his trip to Jersey accompanied by a woman who is not his wife. American public opinion is not prudish, but it will not tolerate an open diplay of immorality in public life. Indeed it is to be questioned whether the public opinion of France would submit to this insult to decency, and it may be that it is ignored simply because BOULANGER no longer counts for anything.

THE success of the Veiled Prophet's balls is so uniform that we are apt to take it for granted and consider it nothing unusual. But St. Louis is the only city in the country which is able to entertain 5,000 people at a ball. New York recently tried it at the great centennial ball last April and the result was a failure, disgraceful to the managers and discreditable to the city. A record of twelve successive balls unmarred by a single unpleasant incident, and each one more brilliant and successful than its predecessor, shows that there are some things which can be done in St. Louis and which can not be done elsewhere.

THE testimony produced in the Jefferson Barracks investigation is attracting the attention of the press generally, and there does not seem to be any difference of opinion as to the condition of affairs disclosed by the evidence. On the contrary, it is universally accepted as accounting for the remarkable percentage of desertions, and as showing a great need for reform in the army. The veil which covered official neglect, petty oppressions and scandalous abuses utterly demoralizing to the service has been removed by the POST-DISPATCH, and the work of reform already begun at Jefferson Barracks will, no doubt, be applied to other posts and lead to new legislation and military regulations of great future benefit to the army.

A "FAIR COUNT" OFFICIALLY DEFINED.

United States District Attorney LEWIS E. PARSONS of Alabama has published in the New York Tribune a letter which proves him morally unfitted for the office he holds. In this letter he says:

> Give me money enough and I can carry Alabama for the Republican ticket at every election, and I will do it simply by paying men to be honest. I will say to the judges of the elections: "We are going to vote so many Republican tickets at this box, and if you count that many I will pay you so much." I would pay them to count the votes as they are voted, pay them to act honestly for once, and we would carry the State by a big majority.

Here is a law officer of the Government, a United States District Attorney especially charged with the prosecution of bribery and other offenses against the Federal election laws, who proposes publicly to the tariff barons to carry Alabama for them with money, by simply bribing the election officers to return whatever number of Republican votes the party managers may declare the ticket entitled to at each precinct. This number is not to be ascertained by any tests or processes provided by law. It is to be evolved from the inner consciousness of the party managers or to be determined by such a "count of noses" as they may choose to make, and the election officers are to be bribed to make just such returns as the party authorities are willing to pay for.

Mr. PARSONS' pretense that he would merely bribe the officers to be honest and to count such votes only as were legally cast is a brazen subterfuge, a proposition to cheapen the purchase of election certificates by bribing a few election officers instead of a great mass of voters in "blocks-of-five." If Republican votes have been counted out as uniformly as he intimates in his district why has he not, with all the Federal Supervisors, Deputy Marshals and Federal Court machinery at his command, convicted the election officers whom he accuses of being bribed to make false and felonious returns for the other side?

IT was after 11 o'clock last night before the Veiled Prophet's ball was opened, and yet both of the morning papers this morning have half-page views of the scene which look as if they had been drawn by hand, and must have occupied the artist several hours in the delineation. We should be very reluctant to accuse the morning papers of having prepared their illustrations beforehand, but the evidence is against them. The Florida carpet-bagger, we regret to say, has ruthlessly invaded the sanctity of private life and in his zeal to use up his old stock of society cuts, has filled his report with the portraits of ladies who on account of sickness, mourning, absence from the city and other good reasons were conspicuously absent from the ball. Among newspapers this is what is called "faking."

ONE year ago the Republican organ in this city was fierce and clamorous in censuring Secretary FAIRCHILD for not offering higher premiums and turning the whole surplus over to the bondholders. Now when Secretary WINDOM is adhering to the Fairchild policy of dealing with the bondholders, the same paper says:

> The speculators' abuse of Secretary WINDOM for failing to rescue the market by offering advanced prices for bonds is not injuring that official. He was selected to serve the interests of the people rather than the speculators, and the people are not finding any fault with the way he is doing his work.

So it was to serve the interest of the speculators rather than the people that FAIRCHILD was abused a year ago, and it was the squeak of an organ, not the voice of the people, that found fault with him!

PRESIDENT HARRISON'S Pacific Railroad Commissioner, "HOD" TAYLOR of Wisconsin, went a little too far in his effort to show what a warm advocate of corporation policies a reformed advocate of "Granger" laws could become. Not content with favoring extreme concessions to the Pacific roads, rather than real attempts to collect the $100,000,000 they owe the Government, he went out of his way to attack the railroad legislation of Republican Iowa, in doing which he picked up a hornet's nest. It seems to be the opinion of all the Republican leaders in Iowa that TAYLOR is a heavier load for the administration to carry than TANNER was, and they are writing "open" letters to the President on the subject.

COMMENTING on the report that JASPER BURKS will release the Railroad Commissioners from their uncomfortable and shameful predicament by resigning, and that Col. JOE RUTHERFORD of Randolph will be made Chief Grain Inspector, the Carthage Democrat congratulates the farmers with the assurance that "Col. RUTHERFORD "can at least tell the difference between "wheat and corn after they are made into "bread." The Carthage Democrat seems to think that the present commissioners cannot be expected, after all they have said and done, to tolerate any higher degree of expertness in a Chief Grain Inspector.

NEWS TO OFFICERS.

The Facts About the Management of Their Own Companies.

Sergeants Testify That the Charges Denied by the Officers Are True.

Some Reforms Which Have Been Quietly Introduced at Jefferson Barracks Now Loom Up as Evidence Against the Former Administration—Facts From the Kitchen—The Rations Were Not Sufficient and the Hash Was Bad—Charges Made by the Reporter-Recruit Substantiated.

THE Court of Inquiry appointed by President Harrison to investigate the abuses at Jefferson Barracks to-day followed up the lead given in yesterday's testimony and pushed the inquiry into the starvation of recruits. The court found abundant evidence to substantiate the charges made in the POST-DISPATCH.

The first witness put on the stand was Sergt. Hugh Thompson, who is in charge of the kitchen of Co. A. Thompson is a very boyish looking, but soldierly man. The court was very favorably impressed with his frank face. Thompson was for three months before being made a Sergeant a recruit at Jefferson Barracks. He had had experience there of the abuses which have made the life of a soldier intolerable for 34 per cent of the total enlistments there.

He was asked what savings had been made from the rations allowed the men by the Government, and from the company fund book explained this matter to the Recorder of the court. The book showed that a saving amounting to $40 had been made in July, while there was no saving in September.

"To what is this attributed?" Capt. Ebstein asked.

"The men were better fed in September."

"Why was that?"

"Orders of Lieut. Hunt."

"Do the men get sugar in their coffee?"

"They do now."

"Was there a time when they got none?"

"Yes."

"When was the change made?"

"The first month I was kitchen sergeant no sugar was given the men."

"The sugar rations were left with the commissary entirely?"

"No sir, about seventy-five pounds was drawn for the non-commissioned officers' table."

"A difference was made between the food given the men and that given the non-commissioned officers then?"

"Yes sir."

"Was the provision of sugar for the non-commissioned officers the only difference made between their food and that given the men?"

"No sir, there were other differences."

"Do those differences exist now?"

"No sir."

"When was the change made?"

"About two months ago Lieut. Hunt gave orders that the food of the men and the non-commissioned officers should be the same; this order has been carried out."

"While a recruit in Company A did you have sugar in your coffee?"

"No sir."

"It has been a post custom to give the recruits no sugar has it not?"

"Yes sir."

"Have you had any complaints regarding the food furnished the men?"

"We had one complaint of some hash furnished one morning."

"No other complaints?"

"None."

"Have you ever heard the men "growl" about their food?"

"Yes, I have heard murmurs. The men have said the food is not sufficient, but there have been no complaints during the last two months."

"Do you find the ration of bread sufficient for the men?"

"No, sir. It is never sufficient. We always have to buy extra bread."

The charge made that the vile coffee furnished the men never had sugar in it was indignantly denied by all the officers at the Barracks. Ever since the Court of Inquiry has been in session officers have said that the story was preposterous. They also pronounced the statement that extra food was given the non-commissioned officers a fabrication. Little by little these officers are learning facts concerning the management of their own companies which they would have known long ago had they given proper attention to their commands.

WM. J. FOWLER,

kitchen Sergeant of Company C, found great difficulty in explaining to Recorder Ebstein how it was that in the first twenty days of September he had saved 136 pounds of coffee and in the succeeding twenty days saved but twenty-one pounds. He could not say whether the men were given stronger coffee in the last twenty days, whether he had had a large amount of coffee left over from the first twenty days, or whether, in the last twenty days, he had fed a larger number of men. He advanced the three reasons one after another, but stood on none.

JOHN H. GASTON,

kitchen Sergeant of Company D, told nothing interesting on either side of the investigation. In his company the non-commissioned officers get the same food that is given the men. All had sugar in their coffee.

JOHN A. SAMUEL,

a hospital steward, was examined with regard to the story printed by the reporter-recruit of the treatment by a hospital attendant of a man who was suffering from boils. As the story had been told to the reporter-recruit, a pair of scissors had been very clumsily used and in consequence the victim suffered much unnecessary pain. Steward Samuels said that under the circumstances mentioned a pair of forceps looking very much like scissors was used. Sometimes the stewards operated, and sometimes they directed attendants to do the work. Post Surgeon Caldwell and his assistant, Dr. Crosby, had without any attempt at explanation denied the story of the recruit and had held its occurrence an impossibility under the rules and practice of the hospital. Steward Samuels did not know whether the story was true or false, but he showed that it was a plain probability. The next witness was the kitchen Sergeant of Company B. He said he had been in the army but two years and had never enlisted before his present term. He was made a Sergeant eighteen months ago and was given charge of the kitchen five months ago. It was while he was in charge of the kitchen the reporter-recruit was a member of Co. B. Dorsch was somewhat unkept in appearance and appeared in court without side arms. His examination had but fairly begun when Recorder Capt. Ebstein learned that the company books kept by Dorsh did not show what rations the company was entitled to draw and were defective in other particulars. Court was adjourned then until 1 o'clock to give Dorsh an opportunity to check up his books with those of the quartermaster and correct the omissions.

WM. DORSH,

THE COURT RECONVENED

at 1 o'clock. Sergt. Dorsh had checked his books and was ready. Recorder Ebstein, after some examination of the books, took up the items of coffee.

"I find," he said, "that in September you were entitled to draw 4,349 rations; that entitles you to 438 9-10 pounds of coffee. Out of that you saved 312 pounds. How do you account for that?"

"I had some left over from the month before."

"In August you were entitled to draw 373.2 pounds of coffee, of which 269 pounds were saved?"

"Well, you see, Captain, I buy tea for the men for supper, and when they have soup for dinner I don't give them coffee. They only have coffee once a day."

"But where did you save coffee enough out of the 104 pounds you drew in August to carry you through September?"

"It does not take much coffee, as we only have it once a day."

"How much do you use?"

"From two and a half pounds to three pounds to twenty gallons of water."

"How much water do you use to make the coffee for your company?"

"From twenty to thirty gallons."

"When do you use two and a half pounds of coffee and when three pounds?"

"Whenever I think the coffee too weak I put in more."

"Have you any knowledge of gambling being carried on here?"

"Yes, sir."

"Carried on by non-commissioned officers against the men?"

"The men have equal chances with the Sergeants."

"I mean the games have been conducted by the non-commissioned officers?"

"Yes, sir."

"Have you ever run any games of stud-poker or chuck-a-luck yourself? You need not answer the question if it will incriminate you."

"I decline to answer."

"Have you ever raffled watches?"

"I raffled one, but the men didn't have to take chances unless they wanted to."

"If you were a recruit wouldn't you take a chance as a matter of policy?"

The Sergeant said he would not.

A BRUTAL ASSAULT.

A Respectable Citizen Roughly Handled by Alleged White Caps.

CARBONDALE, Pa., Oct. 9.—The village of Rush is highly incensed over a brutal assault committed a few days ago by alleged White Caps on David Snyder, a respected citizen. Mr. Snyder says: "About 8 o'clock in the evening I was standing in the road in front of the hotel when four men, disguised, threw a rope around me and dragged me down to the bridge. On the bridge three or four more disguised men joined the first party. I got loose from the rope and tried to defend myself, for I thought they were going to kill me. They then threw me down and stamped on me. They took off my trousers and dragged me over a fence into a lot and tied me to a tree, saying they were white caps, and if I made any noise they would kill me. They then ordered ten stripes, which they gave me. Then they ordered fifteen more, which they gave me. I begged them to kill me. They whipped me until I was insensible, and left me tied to a tree. When I came to they were gone. I hallowed and Isaiah Haire came to me and took me home."

Snyder was black and blue from his ankles to his shoulders, and on his legs were cuts in the flesh from two to ten inches long. The affair has caused a sensation. No arrests have been made.

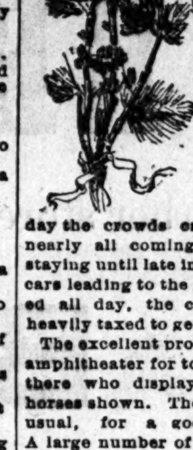

Fair and Warmer.

The Signal Service office at this point has received a telegram from the Washington headquarters stating that the forecasts for St. Louis for the next twenty-four hours are fair and warmer weather.

AT THE BIG FAIR TO-DAY.

A LARGER CROWD THAN EVER TO SEE THE MANY SIGHTS.

Thousands of Visitors From the City and Country—Awarding of Premiums Being Pushed as Rapidly as Possible—Textile Prize-Winners—Features of To-day—Getting Ready for Big Thursday.

WITH the opening of the third day of the great Fair came increasing crowds. The proportion of visitors from outside the city was as large as yesterday. The majority of the visitors who arrived yesterday will remain over for Big Thursday. Yesterday was farmers' day at the Fair and a very large crowd of country people were in attendance. To-day the crowds came early and stayed late, nearly all coming out in the morning and staying until late in the afternoon. The street cars leading to the grounds were overcrowded all day, the cable cars especially being heavily taxed to get the people out.

The excellent programme arranged for the amphitheater for to-day brought a great many there who displayed great interest in the horses shown. The departments came in, as usual, for a good deal of attention. A large number of premiums were awarded yesterday in several of the big departments. All of the textile awards were made, after a great deal of difficulty, as the Judges found it hard in many instances to choose the best work from a large assortment, where each piece was a masterpiece.

THE PAINTINGS

by lady amateurs were also given blue ribbons yesterday. The display this year of amateur works of art is very large and highly creditable to the ladies of St. Louis and the surrounding States. One of the very marked features of both the Textile Department proper and the amateur art department is the large proportion of exhibits from distant parts of the United States, Maine, Massachusetts, California, Dakota, Florida, Minnesota, Wisconsin and other States being well represented and many of them big prize-winners.

In the poultry department the country cousins carried off the palm in the matter of prize-winning fowls.

THE PHILATELIC CONVENTION.

Matters of Interest to Stamp Collectors Considered.

The delegates to the American Philatelic Convention met this morning in Hall 7 of the Odd Fellows building. The question of securing articles of incorporation, which was opened yesterday, was still under discussion. The society has a valuable library and a fine collection of stamps, and also conducts a philatelic journal and conducts much correspondence with foreign countres. In view of the large increase in its membership it was deemed best to give the association a legal existence in order to enable it to hold property, and a committee of three was appointed to take the steps necessary to obtain incorporation. Other matters of interest were considered and several reports read. The delegates will continue in session during to-morrow.

A New Colored Club.

A number of colored men have organized a club at Union Hall, to be called the Young Men's Protective Union. Officers were elected as follows: George Howards, President; Charles Wilson, Vice-President; Robert Jackson, Secretary; George Jones, Treasurer.

A VERY SRIOUS TURN.

CAPT. D. P. SLATTERY IS WORSE AND THERE ARE FEARS FOR HIS RECOVERY.

The Victim of the Brutal Beating at Jefferson and Cass Avenues Prostrated—Worry About Business May Be the Cause, but It Is Possible That His Injuries Are More Serious Than at First Supposed—John Meehan Makes a Statement—Developments in the Case.

CAPT. D. P. SLATTERY, the victim of the brutal attack at Jefferson and Cass avenues, is worse to-day and his friends are anxious about him. His recovery has been suddenly checked and he is now suffering more than he has at any time since he was so cruelly beaten. At first he only felt the pain which he must necessarily feel from such wounds, but it has now been aggravated. His condition is by no means so promising. There are fears that the captain may not recover. His wounds consist of a long cut in the back of the head, a badly battered face and a number of bruises on the body. These he has suffered with ever since he regained consciousness, but now he is feeling severe pains in his temples and the top of his head. What they result from is uncertain. They may be due to nervousness and the reaction, but there are fears that the wounds are more serious than the doctors at first supposed.

WORRYING ABOUT BUSINESS.

Yesterday Capt. Slattery worried a good deal over the elevator matters, which he left unsettled. He had the papers relating to some differences at his office and worked on them Saturday, before he was assaulted, to hasten a settlement, and straighten out the matter. Since then he has been unable to attend to business, and the fact that these important matters have not been attended to when he was so anxious to close them up has weighed upon his mind. He was restless on account of them yesterday, and though every effort was made to keep him quiet and induce him to think of something else he could not take his mind from these affairs. This has made him nervous, and it is hoped by his friends that the pain he suffers to-day is only the result of his nervousness and is not an indication that his wounds are worse than they supposed. The doctors still say that his injuries are not dangerous, but they do not like what seems to be a slight relapse, or at least a check to his recovery.

JOHN MEEHAN,

who has been mentioned in connection with the Slattery assault by a morning paper as a tough, and as one of the men who attempted to assault a newspaper reporter in Klosterman's saloon last Monday night, told a reporter this morning that no attempt was made to assault the reporter. "He came into the saloon," said Meehan, "and had a talk with Klosterman and his brother-in-law, Newkirk. When he got through I took him aside and asked him why his paper had called me a tough and a hoodlum. He said some other reporter had made the mistake. I then asked him if he would make the correction and he said he would. The men he mentioned as two toughs standing on the sidewalk laying for him were two friends of mine from the country. There was no attempt made whatever to assault him, nor did anyone threaten him."

THE MISSING DIAMONDS.

The police have come to the conclusion that Hunt has not got the diamond stud in his stomach or anywhere else and the detectives have turned him over to the jailer. What has become of the diamonds is still a mystery. Chief of Detectives O'Neil said to-day: "I am satisfied that Hunt had the stud. It is ridiculous for him to say that Klosterman threw the setting into his cell. He had it and he threw it into the catch basin, and I believe that when he was removed to the main station he threw it away, thinking that he would be searched after he got there. I do not think there is a shadow of doubt about his having that, but as to the ring, I don't know. I don't place a particle of faith in his statement that he saw Klosterman take the ring from Slattery's finger. In the first place, he is simply trying to tell a story that will let him out, and then I know the Klostermans, and I know that Klosterman would not keep the ring five minutes. It is not so certain that Capt. Slattery had the ring with him at the time. Probably he did, but may be he did not. A representative of this office saw him the morning after he was assaulted, and he said then that

HE DID HAVE THE RING.

"His family have looked in his jewel-box and it is not there, so he probably had it, but though I have no evidence on which to base my opinion, still I think it is possible that Hunt did not have it when he reached Klostermann's. If he did have it I account for its loss in this way: Capt. Slattery was dragged down stairs and across the yard, pulled and thrown about in every direction, then carried and dragged to the police station. There was a bigger crowd of toughs about there than people suppose. There were fifteen or twenty of them, Hunt says, waiting to go up into the garret and play craps when the saloon closed. Now I think that in the scuffle the ring slipped off his finger and some tough in the crowd picked it up and made off with it. There were a dozen or more men there who would do it, and I think that some one who was in the crowd has the ring."

John Hickey, the bar-keeper, has been released on bail. Ed Klosterman called at the Four Courts late yesterday afternoon to get him out and inquire what bond would be required. He was told that the amount demanded in a case of robbery in the first degree was $1,500. He furnished the bond and to-day Hickey was back in his old place behind Klosterman's bar.

RAILROAD NEWS.

An Alleged Gigantic Consolidation of Important Railways.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 9.—A private letter written by President Colby of the Wisconsin Central Railroad to a stockholder of the Northern Pacific system reveals a gigantic railway consolidation that will connect the two oceans and revolutionize international railway traffic. It was never intended that the letter should become public, as it contains the inside workings of a great scheme which is not yet entirely completed. The consolidation of the Wisconsin Central and the Northern Pacific systems in an amicable traffic agreement was the first step. Henry Villard has secretly been at work to gain possession of controlling interest in the Northern Pacific and formed an alliance with Charles and Joseph Colby, who had unlimited means. Through this alliance a majority of the Northern Pacific stock has been secured. Henry Villard will be restored to his lost estate by being made President of the Northern Pacific system. All his former enemies will be shorn of their power and one of the greatest railway consolidations in the world will be consummated. Even now the contracts have been signed whereby the Baltimore & Ohio road is to enter into an agreement with the consolidated Wisconsin Central and Northern Pacific lines, connecting the two oceans. The Atchison is also in the deal, reaching Mexico and Southern California. Chicago will be made the center for operating the three great lines. The Northern Pacific will be extended from Puget Sound and built into Alaska, making a continuous line from New York City to Sitka.

Nothing In It.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 9.—In regard to the special dispatch from Milwaukee, printed in a Chicago morning paper to-day, to the effect that there had been consummated a consolidation, practically, of the Northern Pacific, Wisconsin Central and Baltimore & Ohio roads, making a solid route from ocean to ocean, First Vice-President Orlando Smith, of the Baltimore & Ohio, says: "There is nothing in it." He believes that the cause of the rumor lies in the fact that while the Baltimore & Ohio inspection party were in Chicago recently they looked over the terminals of the Wisconsin Central and made a short trip over the belt line, known as the Chicago & Northwestern.

WEDNESDAY WEDDINGS.

MARRIAGE OF MISS MAMIE M'LURE TO MR. ROBERT PARK VAN WEDELSTAEDT.

The Ceremony Performed by Rev. Dr. Brank at the Family Residence—The Happy Couple Leave for St. Paul, the Groom's Home—Miss Mary Victoria Hunt Wedded to John Anderson Bentley—Society Notes.

AT 4 o'clock this afternoon Miss Mamie McLure, the daughter of Mrs. L. D. Garth, was married to Mr. Robert Park Van Wedelstaedt of St. Paul. The ceremony was celebrated by Rev. Dr. Brank of the Central Presbyterian Church, at the family residence, No. 3840 Washington avenue, in the presence only of the families and near relatives of the bridal pair, and was followed by a small reception from 5 to 7 o'clock, after which the happy pair left for their home in St. Paul. The house was prettily decorated with typical plants and ferns, with pink roses showing everywhere in keeping with the toilettes of the bridemaids, of whom there were five, Miss Elizabeth Van Wedelstaedt, the sister of the groom; Miss Laura Green, Miss Mabel Green, Miss Vinnie Clark of St. Paul and Miss Garth, the young sister of the bride, who served as maid of honor. These young ladies were all dressed alike in white crepe de Chine, made with the straight draperies, and long pointed bodice, finished with folds after the fashion of the empire gowns. In their hands they carried large bunches of pink roses tied with pink ribbons. There were no groomsmen, with the exception of the brother of the groom, Dr. E. K. Van Wedelstaedt of St. Paul. An orchestra stationed in the hall played the "Wedding March" and a soft accompaniment to the marriage service. The bride wore a very beautiful gown of pure white peau de soie, covered with delicately embroidered crepe lisse to the bottom of the long empire train. The bodice was made with long points and en-V back and front, covered with folds of the embroidered gauze; the puffed elbow sleeves were of the same diaphanous material, and were met by long gloves; pearls were worn at her throat and in her ears, and gleamed in her hair, fastening the bridal veil. In her hand she carried lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Garth, the bride's mother, wore a robe of black moire, en train, over a petticoat of white covered with black thread lace. The Pompadour corsage was filled with point lace, and diamonds sparkled at her throat and in her ears; elbow sleeves with a deep fall of lace completed the toilette. During the afternoon quite a number of guests were in attendance to tender congratulations and good wishes to the happy pair. Mr. and Mrs. Van Wedelstaedt will go direct to St. Paul, where he has fitted up apartments at the Portland for the reception of his bride.

Bently—Hunt.

The marriage of Miss Mary Victoria Hunt, daughter of the late Sharrie C. Hunt, an old St. Louis merchant, to Mr. John Anderson Bently was celebrated his afternoon at 4 o'clock by Rev. Father Powers of the Church of the Immaculate Conception, at the residence of Mrs. C. A. Ghio, No. 2308 Pine street, in the presence only of the near relatives and the intimate friends. The bride wore her travelling dress of dark green cloth, trimmed with vandyke points of black silk passamenterie; her large black velvet hat completing a picturesque toilette; a large bunch of pink roses, forming a pretty contract to the dark green cloth. There were no bridemaids or groomsmen, but Mr. William Simpson served as best man. After a hansome collation, Mr. and Mrs. Bently bade their friends adieu, and left by the steamer City of New Orleans for the Crescent City, where they will reside.

Koenecke—Brown.

Miss Nettie Brown was married this afternoon to Mr. C. H. Koenecke. The ceremony was performed at the residence of the bride's parents on Finney avenue, the bride wearing a very stylish traveling dress of gray cloth, combined with black. Soon after the ceremony the bridal pair left for a wedding journey.

THE FIRST OF ITS KIND.

A $10,000 Damage Suit the Result of an Electric Shock—Court Notes.

The first suit ever filed in the St. Louis Circuit Court by a citizen for damages for injuries received by an electric current was filed yesterday by Jeremiah Cundiff against the United Electric Light and Power Co. for $10,000 damages. Cundiff was walking across Fourth street and Chouteau avenue on the evening of July 3 last, when he ran into an electric light wire which was in his way and touched him. He received a shock that paralyzed him and in his petition states he is injured for life. A. R. Taylor is his attorney. As every new invention and improvement opens up new fields for litigation so will the introduction of hundreds of wires carrying deadly currents open up a new style of damage suits of which Cundiff's is the first.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETING.

Thursday Given as a Holiday—Other Business Transacted.

The School Board met last night with fourteen members in attendance. President Judson was not present when the meeting opened, but came in later. On motion of Director Holmes Mr. Jack P. Richardson was elected chairman. The report of the committe to examine the School Board's accounts was presented and adopted. The recommendations contained therein were referred to the Ways and Means Committee. The reports of the Lands and Leasing Committee and of the Teachers Committee were also adopted. The latter report contained the new boundaries for public schools and a recommendation that Thursday be given as a holiday to enable teachers and scholars to visit the Fair. It has been a custom to give Thursday in Fair week as a holiday ever since the fair opened, but it was feared by some that the Board would not grant it this year. Every member present last night however voted for the recommendation of the Teachers Committee The Building Committee reported in favor of the acceptance of the new additions to the Carr Lane, Spring Avenue and No. 1 schools and the report was adopted. President Judson offered a motion that the rules be changed so as to allow the President of the Board to serve in the capacity of a trustee for the Henry Shaw property deeded to the city. The amendment was adopted.

THE highest prize for portrait photographs, a silver medal, was awarded to F. W. Guerin at the World's Exposition, Paris, France.

DAIRYMEN IN COURT.

Cases Instituted Under the New Ordinance—Other Offenses Tried To-Day.

Four dairymen appeared in the Second District Police Court this morning on charges of dispensing impure milk to their customers. These cases are the first to be brought into this court on charges of violating the recently enforced city ordinance regarding the inspection of milk. The parties were F. H. Wellerman, Leo Roth, Carl Reuter, and Conrad Wuner. The cases were continued until October 17.

John Saulden was charged with disturbing the peace and with resisting arrest. The affair occurred in a house of ill repute, and he was let off easy on account of the unsavory reputation of those with whom he was quarreling. He was fined $10 in each case, and let off on the payment of costs.

There was a very short docket this morning, and nearly all the cases were continued. Court will be held as usual to-morrow, but only the confined cases will probably be heard.

Arrested the Waiters.

A warrant was sworn out this morning charging Henry L. Martin and James Kenney with petit larceny. Both have been for the past three days employed as waiters at Tony Faust's saloon and restaurant. Yesterday, it is charged, that they decamped, taking with them $40 in money which they had collected from Faust's customers. The men were arrested about 3 o'clock this morning by Officer Collins of the Central District, who found them at Sixth and Olive streets.

CRIMINAL CORRECTION.

The Court Charged With That Duty Has a Busy Day.

In the Court of Criminal Correction this morning William Johnston waived examination in the case against him for assault to kill and was held in the sum of $800 to await the action of the Grand-jury, in default of which he was committed to jail. Johnston is charged with shooting at John Loyne, 521 South Third street, on September 21.

Charles Smith, Charles Hall and Edward Carr were found guilty of petit larceny and sentenced each to serve three months in the Work-house. On October 4 these men stole $2 from Spaniolo & Gallo, fruit dealers.

Charles Golden was given a preliminary examination and held to the Grand-jury in the sum of $800 for burglary and larceny. On the night of October 3 the defendant is charged with breaking into the saloon of John H. Witterer, northeast corner of Twelfth and Pine streets. It will be remembered that his companion, Edward Duffy, resisted arrest and was shot through the heart by Police Officer James Maher of the Central District, whose action was held to be justifiable by the Coroner's jury which investigated Duffy's death. Maher and his companion, Officer Nolan, were also complimented by their superior officers for their determined bravery on this occasion.

Every Skin Disease.

Minister cured of an extremely itchy and painful skin disease, with bran-like scales. General Health affected. Used Cuticura Remedies. Relief first day. Worked wonderfully. Completely cured.

Cured by Cuticura.

About two years ago I was attacked with an inflammatory disease on my face (petyriasis), which was very troublesome, being extremely itchy and painful, giving rise to the production of small bran-like scales. My general health was affected by it. I used the CUTICURA RESOLVENT, CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP according to directions, and experienced a change from the very first day; they worked wonderfully and by their continued use for about five months I was completely cured. I have unbounded faith in the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and can speak of them from personal experience. I regard the CUTICURA RESOLVENT as the very best blood purifier; a trial will convince anyone. The CUTICURA SOAP is the best in the market and would be cheap at twice its present price. I shall use no other for the toilet and bath. With the prevalence of skin diseases among us as a people (and they are the most difficult to deal with), I regard the CUTICURA REMEDIES of more important and intrinsic value to the world than any other medicine now before the public. They are designed to be a national blessing. Wishing you every success in a work so philanthropic, I am, with deep gratitude, (Rev.) WM. CREELMAN, York Corner, Me.

Scratched 38 Years.

I go Mr. Dennis Downing ten years better. I have dug and scratched for thirty-eight years. I have had what is termed pruritis and have suffered everything and tried a number of doctors, but got no relief. Anybody could have got $500 had they cured me. The CUTICURA REMEDIES cured me. God bless the man who invented CUTICURA!

THE PROTESTANT CONVENTION.

A Conference of Both Houses on an Important Resolution.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—The National House of Deputies of the Protestant Episcopal Church this morning, immediately after assembling, received a message from the House of Bishops announcing that the following joint committee on judicial systems had been appointed to consider the question in course of argument in the lower house relative to the creation of an appellate court. The committee consisted of the Rt. Rev. Bishops of Texas, Central New York, Pennsylvania and Kentucky. The Committee on the Admission of New Dioceses begged to be discharged from the further consideration of the memorial from Nebraska and Michigan, asking for the erection of a new diocese within the limit of each of these States. The committee could not recommend the advisability of granting the request and were, therefore discharged. The report of the Committee on Conference with the House of Bishops, in reference to resolution 8, was then taken up. Resolution 8, which provided for the recitation of the litany after morning prayer on Sundays, Wednesdays and Fridays and on ember days. The litany might also be said every day in Lent. Several days ago the resolution was adopted by the House of Bishops, but when it came before the House of Deputies it was rejected. A committee of conference was then appointed and this committee came back this morning and commanded the House of Deputies to recede from the action it formerly took and adopt the resolution as passed by the House of Bishops. There was a long discussion over the manner of bringing the matter before the House. Some delegates claim that the matter could be brought before the House by reconsidering the vote already taken. Finally Dr. Dix, who presided, ruled that the matter could be put before the House in the form of the report of the Committe on Conference. The roll of the dioceses was then called and it was found that there were only eighteen dioceses in favor of receding from their former action and thirty dioceses against it. Two dioceses were evenly divided in the votes of their deputies. So the House of Deputies sent back the resolution of the House of Bishops without its approval.

CONTEMPT OF COURT.

Attorney Charles Lundy Sentenced to Sixty Days in Jail.

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 9.—Judge Sage of the United States District Court to-day sentenced Charles Lundy, an attorney, to sixty days' confinement in the Dayton jail for contempt of court. Lundy, who was formerly a gauger under Collector Bishop, had been cited to appear yesterday before the Grand-jury to give testimony concerning alleged illegal transactions by some of the employes of the former Collector's office. He refused to testify and was charged by District Attorney Probasco with contempt of court. Judge Sage decided that he was bound to disclose all that did not come to his knowledge solely by reason of his relation as attorney for the accused. He went before the Grand-jury again this morning and again refused to testify, claiming exemption because he was attorney for the parties implicated. Judge Sage said this was not only contempt, but was defiance of the court and sentenced Lundy to sixty days in jail. He, however, withheld the entry until 2 o'clock to allow Lundy an opportunity to purge himself of contempt. Ex-District Attorney Burnet also refused to testify and he also was notified that his claim for exemption on the ground of coming into possession of evidence while a public officer was not sufficient.

THE PAN-AMERICAN CONGRESS.

A Brief Stop Made by the Delegates at Worcester, Mass.

WORCESTER, Mass., Oct. 9.—The train bearing the Pan-American party from Portland reached the Union Station here at 5 o'clock this morning, two hours ahead of schedule time. The party were allowed to sleep and nobody turned out before 7 o'clock. At 8 o'clock the Reception Committee of the City Council arrived. By that time the visitors had breakfasted, and after introductions they were taken in carriages through some of the principal streets and passed some of the large manufactories. They did not alight at any point. They returned to the station at 10 o'clock and ten minutes later left for Willamantic.

THE KEMMLER CASE.

Judge Day Decides That the Electrical Execution Law Is Constitutional.

AUBURN, N. Y., Oct. 9.—County Judge Day filed his decision in the Kemmler case this morning. The case was a habeas corpus proceeding, to test the constitutionality of the electrical execution law. Judge Day decides that the law is constitutional, and remands the prisoner to the custody of Warden Durston of Auburn prison, for execution.

Discharged by the Court.

CONCORD, Mass., Oct. 9.—The cases of Dunham and Orcutt, the reformatory officers, and Flagg and Russell, the storekeepers, charged with larceny from the State came up for trial in the District Court here this morning. The Assistant District Attorney was present and stated that the evidence was not sufficient to convict, upon which Judge Keyes ordered all the defendatnts discharged.

THE KNIGHTS TEMPLAR.

SECOND DAY OF THE TRIENNIAL CONCLAVE AT WASHINGTON.

The Exhibition Drill at the Grounds of the Base Ball Club—Four Thousand Persons Occupy the Bleaching Boards and Watch the Graceful Evolutions of the Various Commanderies.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 9.—The feature of the second day of the grand triennial conclave was the exhibition drill which was given at the grounds of the Washington Base Ball Blub. The chilly wind which swept through the grand stand, proved of little discomfort to the many spectators, the majority of whom were handsomely attired ladies. The bleaching boards were not crowded although there was a liberal sprinkling of onlookers basking in the sun and admiringly applauding the graceful exhibitions of the commanderies taking part in the drill. The first organization to put in its appearance within the white-washed diamond was the Apollo Commandery, No. 15, of Troy, N. Y., marching over the level green award with a precision of movement which surprised and pleased the assemblage. The commandery fell into hollow squares, triangles, circles and crosses with remarkable accuracy and precision. While the band stationed at the rear played martial airs, the commandery formed a battalion and marched firmly toward the grand stand, the occupants of which were liberal with their applause. A sword drill followed and the fencing was of the highest order of merit. Again ranks were formed and the most attractive evolutions of the drill were made. Marching in a single file in a circle, until the whole body stood statuesque in a solid mass, the appearance presented was very fine. Again assuming battalion front, the commandery made the sword salute to the Exhibition Committee and retired, giving place to Louisville Commandery, No. 1, of Louisville, Ky., which, as it marched into the enclosure twenty minutes later, preceded by its military band, played "My Old Kentucky Home," was greeted with generous applause. The commandery, which had twenty-seven Knights in line, was dressed in regulation uniform. The music was furnished by the bands belonging to the respective bodies participating in the drill. The marching and countermarching of this body were particularly fine.

A FLORAL TRIBUTE.

The several intricate evolutions of the drill were executed with an exactness that elicited almost constant applause from the spectators. To the inspiring strains of "Dixie" the Demolay Commandery, No. 12, of Louisville paraded in company front before the grand-stand amid the plaudits of the onlookers. Then the twenty-seven men forming the commandery advanced in battalion front and saluted the committee. This organization executed its drill without music and its evolutions were unique, its marching in double-cross form and in open ranks being especially effective. The drilling was perfection itself. The members of the organization moved with the accuracy of so many pieces of a complicated machine, and as at the close of their evolutions they ranged in battalion front with drawn swords and received through their officers a magnificent floral tribute from the hands of lady who was escorted by the Grand Commander of Kentucky, they received a hearty round of well-merited applause.

MARVELOUS DRILLING.

The next commandery to enter the field was Detroit, No. 1, of Detroit, Mich. There were fifty-six Knights in line, and, as they marched in battalion front across the grounds in front of the grand stand, they presented a truly magnificent appearance. They were commanded by Col. Eugene Robinson, mounted, and were escorted by a color guard bearing the stars and stripes and commandery banner. Then the drilling of this commandery was confined strictly to military movements, which were performed in a seemingly faultless manner. The alignments and wheelings were something marvelous. Altogether, the command acquitted itself with great honor. The applause which followed each masterly executed movement plainly showed that Detroit Commandery, No. 1 had now the admiration of the 4,000 spectators present.

Although the commandery manoeuvered for more than an hour there was no weariness manifested by the spectators, and when, as the climax, the body ranged itself at sword's rest, and after performing the duties of dress parade sheathed its weapons in soldier-like manner, and preceded by its band, resplendent in yellow plumes and filling the air with the popular "Yankee Doodle," the enthusiasm was great. Under the escort of the DeMolay Commandery of Louisville the lads composing the "little commandery" of the Masonic Home of that city made their salutations. Their appearance and military bearing did credit to their training and in precision of step and fine evolutions they out done many of the older and more experienced organizations.

A HEAVY LOSS.

Mr. Clem Studebaker's Magnificent Residence Destroyed by Fire.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 9.—The magnificent stone house of Mr. Clem Studebaker, which cost about $300,000, was almost entirely destroyed by fire this morning. The residence was one of the largest and costliest in the West. It was built of Indiana field stone, with tile roof and copper facings, and the interior was finished in the costliest of native and foreign woods, while it was furnished in the richest style throughout. The art gallery on the third floor was filled with rare works of art and all were destroyed. Mr. Studebaker is absent as a member of the International American Congress and was to have entertained that body in the house on the 19th inst. The rest of the family, except Mrs. Studebaker and her grandchild, were away from home. Mrs. Studebaker discovered the fire at 2 o'clock this morning in a closet opposite Mr. Studebaker's "den" and under the rear stairway. It was evidently caused by spontaneous combustion of some oil rags which painters had been using and thrown in there. Next to the closet was the elevator shaft, reaching to the roof, and by this the flames shot up and spread all over the building in an incredibly short time. The servants had a narrow escape and Mrs. Studebaker herself was found out on the terrace nearly insensible and dangerously burned and clasping her grandchild in her arms. Owing to the careful manner in which the structure was built, and its supposed security from fire, Mr. Studebaker carried but $25,000 insurance.

Mr. Studebaker's house was only finished a few months ago. September 13, Mr. and Mrs. Studebaker celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage and formally opened their magnificent new residence, which was completed last February. Twelve hundred invitations were issued to friends and relatives residing in the United States, Canada and England. Among the guests were all their old personal friends, the neighbors who could remember the simple beginnings of their fortunes. Among the letters and telegrams received on this occasion was this:

Mr. and Mrs. Clem Studebaker:

Will you please accept the congratulations of Mrs. Harrison and myself. May your family be unbroken and your home be the abode of happy contentment.
Washington, D. C., Sept. 13. BENJ. HARRISON.

The house, in its proportions and adpointments, probably surpasses anything in Indiana. It is an embodiment of all that wealth and taste can suggest, and modern skill and invention devise. The architects were Cobb & Frost of Chicago. The material is native cobble-stone, irregular in form and varied in color. It stands upon a natural elevation, surrounded by smoothly shaved lawns, which slope to the north and east and are broken here and there by beds of brilliant flowers. There are several fine old oaks to the south and east. With its massive walls, its turrets and the irregular roofs, it looked like some feudal castle. The house was most lavishly furnished throughout.

Typhoid Fever Epidemic.

OAKLAND, Md., Oct. 9.—An alarming epidemic of typhoid fever prevails at Aurora, W. Va., about fourteen or fifteen miles from Oakland. It is said that the entire neighborhood for miles around is infected. There is scarcely a family without one or more of its members prostrated with the disease, and in some localities there are scarcely enough well persons to nurse the sick.

MONEY.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9, 11 a. m.—The strength shown in the market yesterday afternoon remained over until this morning, and first prices were generally from ⅛ to ⅜ per cent higher than last night's closing figures. Cotton Oil was up ⅝ at 31¾. Cotton Oil, Louisville & Nashville and Atchison were active and there was a fairly active business transacted in St. Paul, Lackawanna, Missouri Pacific, Reading and Sugar, but the others were comparatively neglected.

Louisville became the feature of the market immediately by reason of its positive strength and at 80¼ it was 1 per cent higher than its last evening's prices. Cotton oil followed with a rise of ½ per cent, making a total gain of 1⅛. The rest of the market, however, after a few slight advances displayed a drop in tendency and sugar developed positive weakness and after an advance to ¾ dropped to 84. Toward the end of the hour there was a better tone to the dealings, however, and at 11 o'clock the market was quiet and steady to firm, though generally a little below the opening prices.

Noon—Money is somewhat easier at from 5 to 7 per cent. Bar silver 93. The stock market was quiet after 11 o'clock and the same stocks led in the dealings with the exception of Louisville & Nashville which became quiet with the general list. The drooping tendency reappeared and fractional losses were sustained all over the list with St. Paul, Missouri Pacific and Atchison most prominent in the decline. A rally occurred later in the hour and Louisville & Nashville and Western Union led the upward movement, each reaching slightly higher figures than during the first hour. At noon the market was quiet and steady to firm, but generally at fractional declines from first prices.

3 p. m.—Money is easier, ranging from 5 to 7 per cent, closing at 5. The stock market closed fairly active and strong at about the best figures of the day.

Commercial Notes.

No session of the Merchants' Exchange to-morrow, and consequently no markets in the POST-DISPATCH except those by telegraph.

The first "damage" report on the new crop of wheat of the season came in to-day. F. A. Vinke of St. Charles, Mo., writes the Redmond Cleary Commission Co. "that farmers who are coming in are reporting that the wheat sowed needs rain very badly to come up, and unless it rains soon a good deal will not come up at all."

The Egyptian wheat crop will probably be about 25 per cent below an average yield. The failure of the Nile to submerge the land last autumn and a reduction of acreage have been the two principal causes.

In Southern Russia the thrashing and transportation of grain has been impeded by wet weather. Small arrivals at ports of shipment are held to justify the independent attitude of wheat holders who are in no hurry to sell.

Weather in Austria during the past month of September has been colder than any corresponding month for many years, and portends an early closing of the Danube and the stoppage of wheat and maize shipments.

Imports of flour and wheat into the United Kingdom last week were equivalent to 1,695,000 bu wheat. Added to the English home deliveries the amount was less than consumptive requirements by 234,000 bu, decreasing their supplies that much.

According to the Chicago Board of Trade cable the amount of wheat on passage decreases 1,600,000 bu.

To-morrow the Government crop report will be made. At its last report the general average of corn was 91, of winter wheat 89.4 and of spring wheat 83.9. A year ago the condition of corn was 92, indicating an average yeild of 26 bu to the acre. The yield of winter wheat in measured bu was estimated at 12 bu and of spring wheat at slightly over 10 bu to the acre.

St. Louis Markets.

REGULAR SESSION, CLOSING 1:15 P. M.

Wheat opened weak and sold ⅛c lower at 80⅝c December and 84½c May, with shorts the only buyers, though there wasn't much for sale. Most cables were reported weak, receipts kept up even and still far in excess of shipments, and corn and oats were badly depressed, all of which had a bearish influence. When the Chicago statement of a 1,600,000 bu decrease in "ocean wheat" came in there was something of a change in the sentiment and with reactions elsewhere prices rallied. The market was dull and showed little change for some time, but finally became very bullish. Reports of export business at New York and Baltimore were received, and fears were entertained that the Government report to-morrow would not be as favorable as had been expected, which, with the holiday of to-morrow started shorts to buying and they put December to 81⅜c and May to 85½c, closing with buyers at 81¼@⅜c December and 85⅛c May, which was ⅜c above yesterday. Spot grades were lower and the demand small. No. 2 red sold at 78⅜@78½c regular; No. 3 red at 75½c in U., St. L. and C.; No. 4 hard, 67c bid regular, 67½c for St. L.; rejected offered at 57c and no grade at 50c.

Corn was run below 30c for May this morning by the demoralized appearance of Chicago, but at the decline there was heavy buying by shorts that checked the lower tendency and the close was firm at about ⅛c below yesterday. Most trading was in May at 30c to 29⅞c, and at close 30c bid. Spot grades were lower and the demand was small. The Manchester Market.

MANCHESTER, Oct. 9.—The "Guardian," in its review of yesterday's market, says: The market was quiet. Producers progressed moderately. Quotations are steady, though confronted with low orders, backed by the arguments of buyers that the recent collapse in the prices of cotton ought to be followed by a like decline in the prices of manufactured goods. The buyers, however, entirely disregard the fact that the prices did not advance with the off-set in cotton. The production has been so seriously lessened during the past three months that manufacturers feel less bound to sell. The position strengthens the tendency of sellers in all departments to restrict forward sales, and to rely more upon the current demand. Little business is done in export yarns. India and China staples are steady with a slow demand. There were few important sales. Best prints are firm. Most well-known makes are well under contract. Orders for common are wanted. Fancy gray goods are irregular. There is a steady demand for heavy goods.

A HORSE and buggy belonging to Wm. Tepe, residing at No. 2721 Laclede avenue, was stolen from Fourth street, near Chestnut, where the owner left the outfit standing yesterday while attending to some banking business. At 2:30 o'clock this morning the rig was recovered by the police, who found it at the corner of Sixth and Walnut streets. The horse was worn out, showing that he had been driven very hard by some one.

AMONG THE BROKERS.

THE MICKY BREEN EXPERIENCES A BEAR RAID THIS MORNING.

A Decline of One-Fourth in Less Than Five Minutes—The Situation in West Granite—Ouray Properties and What They Are Doing—The Daily Transactions and Quotations.

The Mining Exchange market seems to have fallen into a bear net from which it cannot escape. Every time anything shows its head arrangements are made to knock it down. This policy has been pursued so long that the public has become discouraged, until now, because of the lack of support, the market is entirely in the control of manipulators, and these are all on the bear side. This morning the Micky Breen, but recently listed, came in for an experience, being forced down 20 cents a share in less than one-quarter as many minutes. No cause was given for it, except speculative talk as to the exhaustion of ore bodies. The shipments, however, continue and the only inference is that the movement was impelled from the inside to shake out some holders or from the outside to bring enough stock into the market to make active trading. West Granite was also depressed, presumably from the inside. Trust certificates were strong with an upward tendency.

The feature of the market on call this morning was the trading in Micky Breen. The price has been above a dollar. The bid price at the opening was 95, at which 100 sold. It then started down rapidly to 75, considerable changing hands. The cause of the decline could not be learned, but it was rumored that it was due to the ore bodies running out. The indications, however, were that it was due to a shaking out manipulation.

Mr. L. A. Coquard received a telegram saying that his suit to restrain the trustees of the West Granite from transferring the property to the Granite Mountain syndicate would be filed to-day. He is confident that it will hold, and says the change of trustees is simply a change of foot, and that it can do the old trustees and the members of the syndicate no good.

The Black Oak had a telegram that the hoist had been repaired and a new wheel put in. It had been started up yesterday and was running smoothly. It will require about sixteen days to pump the water out, as it is up to the second level, 250 to 300 feet deep. The mill will then be started up. About 100 tons of ore are already knocked down ready to be taken out.

The clearings to-day were again large, being $4,137,752, with balances of $762,806. New York exchange was 25 off and Chicago par.

* * *

Mr. Hugh McDonald, who has been in this city for some time, goes to Mexico soon to take charge of the big gold property in the San Carlos Mountains, which, as stated in yesterday's POST-DISPATCH has just been sold to an American syndicate.

The Pedro, which has been seeking the bottom notch for some time, has been pronounced an exhausted prospect by Mr. W. M. Chauvenet, after a complete examination of the property. The stockholders will meet on the 25th inst. to decide what shall be done with the mine and with the $3,000 in the treasury.

* * *

The Frisco directors have issued a circular giving the condition of the property very fully and giving the stockholders who advanced nearly $6,000 of the $15,000 asked for until October 15 to withdraw it, or to leave it go toward paying the company's debts.

The decline in the West Granite has been something of a mystery to the street at large. It was explained that the stock on the market was coming from the inside, with a view of getting cheaper stock to exchange two for one for the stock of the Elizabeth when that company is organized.

There was but little done after call, attention being absorbed by West Granite. Of this stock 3,700 shares changed hands at 92½ and 91¼, the former being obtainable at the close. 'Frisco sold 100 shares at 6, and Central Silver 200 at 48¾.

Mr. E. Wallace of the Samoa returned this morning from Ouray, where he has been for some time. He says he thinks Ouray will lead all of the Colorado districts within a short time. The gold belt has a very bright future. The idea that the ore deposit is temporary and in pockets, he says, is a mistake. It is a vein as well as any of them, the only difference being that it is flat. It has numerous kidneys, but they are all connected, so that they cannot be called pockets. Of the different mines the American and Nettie is a great one and will be a steady producer. The Puzzle, which is being placed here, adjoins, and has made several good strikes. The strike in the Cascade, on the upper quartzite, is encouraging to all of the other companies. It was made 150 feet in and runs 50 ounces in gold. The Center, adjoining it, and the Sancho, coming next, and in the same formation, are also showing well. The latter is being placed here. The Cascade has 1 to 3 feet of gold ore in its strike. The Samoa has driven in only 60 feet, and at a shallow place in the mountain. In the next 100 feet it will attain considerable depth, and it is thought will have as good ore as any of them. It now has one to four feet of mud giving $50 a ton on mill tests. The Skyrocket made a good strike running four to five ounces in gold, a couple of days before he left.

The semi-weekly shipment of the Granite Mountain, received to-day, was twenty-three bars, 36,600 ounces of silver and 74 ounces of gold.

* * *

Mr. J. H. Dieckman was home this morning from Helena, Mont., where he went to attend the meeting of the stockholders of the West Granite, as the representative of the Granite Mountain syndicate. Mr. Dieckman says the Elizabeth will be organized as soon as the deeds are passed, probably some time this month, unless interfered with by Mr. Coquard's threatened injunction suit. He says, however, that no importance is attached to this in Helena.

* * *

The stockholders of the Tourtelotte meet this afternoon to vote on a ratification of the assessment of 5 cents a share called by the directors. Some protests are expected.

There was quite an improvement in the trust certificates market to-day. Sugars opened at 85¼, sold at 86⅜ and stood at 86⅛; Leads, 23⅛ and 23¼; Cottons, 43¾, 42⅞ and 44½.

A private wire telegram to Gaylord, Blessing & Co., from Chicago says: "The Alton proposed reduction in grain and cattle rates from Missouri River has been postponed until the next monthly meeting of the Western Freight Association. No action will be taken by any road until after the November meeting."

Another, to the same firm, from New York, says: "The Western Union for the year ending June 30, shows a net gain of $6,219,041 against $5,070,571 for last year; surplus, $1,072,866, against $496,864; total surplus, $8,611,401."

CHICKASAW SQAWMEN.

A Decision Sustaining the Amendment Made by the Legislature.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

DENISON, Tex., Oct. 9.—Yesterday the Supreme Court of the Chickasaw Nation sustained the amendment made by the Chickasaw Legislature regarding sqawmen, or white men who have obtained rights in that Territory through marriage with Indian women. The whites claimed that under the Indian constitution they had the same right to hold property, office, or exercise the right of suffrage as did their red brethren. This decision will operate against the white element and will cause trouble, and will prove to be a prime factor in causing the Chickasaw and Choctaw Nations to the 98th parallel west to be thrown open for settlement. Fully 80 per cent of the inhabitants of the Chickasaw country are white, and they will petition Congress to allot the lands in severalty, which means the complete disruption of the Indian Government.

The killing was done with a double-barreled shot-gun. The cause of the trouble has not been learned. Sugg has not been arrested, but will go to Paris, Tex., and surrender to the Federal authorities. The killing took place in the Chickasaw Nation, fifty miles northwest of Gainesville.

HE'S AFTER HIGHER GAME

THE SENSATIONAL STATEMENT ATTRIBUTED TO DISTRICT ATTORNEY REYNOLDS.

A Reason Given Why Certain Features of St. Louis Registration Frauds Will Not Be Pursued Now — The Case Against Mayor Noonan—Political News From the National Capital.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 9.—Congressman Kinsey of St. Louis and the United States District Attorney for Eastern Missouri, Mr. Reynolds, are putting in full time here independent of the Knights Templar. The District Attorney has already had a talk with the Attorney-General about the St. Louis election fraud cases. In speaking of the matter this morning a personal friend of Mr. Reynolds said that the case of Mayor Noonan was canvassed but it has not been concluded, that nothing would be done with that, because the District Attorney was after higher game. This morning the latter was a caller at the executive mansion, where he went after visiting the Secretary of the Interior in company with Mr. Kinsey. The latter, it was stated, had asked all of the Executive he intended to when Mr. Reynolds' appointment was solicited, but the Representative of the Tenth District is trying to fill the local offices.

AFTER THE OFFICES.

H. Lawders of Mexico, candidate for Collector of Internal Revenue for the Eastern District, is here and is active. He has been around with Mr. Kinsey, and said to-day that the mission of the latter was to get the St. Louis appointments made. Lawders has a big pile of signers, and is pushing things all he knows how.

BAIN'S APPOINTMENT.

Gen. Shields, the Assistant Attorney-General said, this morning that he had not yet been able to have a talk with Secretary Blaine about George Bain's application for a Consulship but would see him during the week.

Maj. Brock and Gen. Guitar left for their homes in Missouri last night. The former will return at the end of a week to enter upon his duties as Chief of the Bureau of Statistics.

Attorney-General Boone of Missouri is here.

Corean Affairs.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 9.—Dr. Allen, foreign secretary of the Corean embassy, expects to start on a business trip to Corea in regard to matters for the legation. He will stop in Ohio a few days to see his family and will then proceed to San Francisco, taking the first steamer to Hong Kong. The POST-DISPATCH correspondent talked with him about the relations existing between the Corean and Chinese legations here, calling his attention to certain rumors that the United States proposed sending an envoy to investigate the situation as to the exact relations of the two countries. He said: "I wish they would and thus set at rest all these idle rumors. But if there is such a step contemplated we have no intimation from the State Department to that effect. We certainly would be consulted in regard to the matter. The only mention I have heard of it was from Admiral Shufeldt, who, it is intimated, you say, is to be sent on the delicate mission which is rather suggestive. The retired Chinese Minister was on the very best of terms with our legation, and there has not been any mention lately of any objection to Corea having a representative here. As to the new minister and Prince Pak, there is the most cordial friendship existing between them, even more so than was the case of his predecessor. I think all the present discussion springs from the meddlesome activity of a citizen of the United States in the employ of the Corean Government. They are just about finding him out, and will no doubt soon dispense with his peculiar service."

SELLING REAL PROPERTY

THE FESTIVITIES BUT SLIGHTLY CURTAIL THE DEMAND FOR HOUSES AND LOTS.

The Bemis Tract at Clayton Sold for $30,000 to a Syndicate for Subdivision—Several West End Sites Purchased for Homes and for Improvement—Notes of the Day and Building Association News.

There is no class of business men who enter more fully into the spirit of Veiled Prophet's week than the real estate agents of the city. For that reason business is a secondary matter with them at this season. However several commonplace sales of realty were closed yesterday, of which the following are the most important:

SALES OF THE DAY.

The firm of Nelson & Mersman report the sale of the property numbered 3016 Locust for $7,000 from Mrs. Silas Atkins to Emily Wolff. The premises consist of a ten-room brick dwelling and 80x134 feet of ground, where the purchaser intends making her residence.

FAIRFAX AVENUE AT $30 A FOOT.

C. R. H. Davis & Co. report the sale of 75x120 feet of ground situated at the southeast corner of Pendleton and Fairfax avenue at $30 a foot from Miss Mary B. Towner to A. W. McDonald, who was represented by Geo. A. Kirchbaum.

The same firm also sold 50x132 feet of ground located on the south side of Fairfax avenue eighty-four feet west of Whittier at $35 a foot, from the senior partner of the firm to A. W. McDonald.

LOW PRICE GROUND.

Adam Boeck & Co. sold 202 feet of vacant property on Nebraska near Utah at $10 a foot. The ground belonged to Mrs. B. T. Jennings of New York. A piece fronting 102x126 feet on Nebraska at the northeast corner of Utah was sold to W. Gens, and 50 feet adjoining to Daniel Weissmueller. Next to that 50 feet more was taken at $10 a foot by Nicholas Nolan.

RESIDENCE AND BUSINESS PROPERTY.

Bradley & Quintette made two sales to-day aggregating $5,155. One transaction was the sale of the five-room brick dwelling and 25x132 foot lot at No. 4216 North Market street for $1,950 from C. E. Bradley to Alfred Goodall. The other sale was that of the one-story brick store-house and 50x132 feet of ground, No. 4401 North Market street, from S. Mitchell of Denver, Colo. to Charles S. Kicker for $2,000 cash.

Chas. C. Nicholls, Secretary of the Beneficial, says that association at its thirty-third meeting loaned $2,600 at 23 per cent to a member who is going to build on University street, between Twenty-third and Twenty-fifth.

DICKSON STREET AT $40.

Charles H. Gleason reports the sale of a 50-foot lot situate on the north side of Dickson street, between Jefferson and Elliott avenues, at $40 a foot from A. F. Stoddard to M. S. Brennan.

Judge John H. Grether, a veteran real estate agent who became prominently indentified as the senior member of the extinct firm of Grether & Boeck, succeeded by Adam Boeck & Co., who left here about two years ago to reside in San Diego, Cal., a place with which he was much infatuated at that time, is now in the city, and says it is not improbable that he will re-establish himself here in business. He thinks San Diego has a brilliant future before it, but that there is no place which will compare with St. Louis for money-making in the real estate line at the present time.

SUBURBAN PROPERTY.

A body of land seventy-seven acres in extent, adjoining the town of Clayton, the shire town of St. Louis County, about ten miles west of Fourth street, has been sold for $3,000 to a syndicate of Claytonians, who are going to subdivide the ground and sell it off in small parcels. The site is what is known among real estate men as the semis tract.

St. Joseph Convent of Mercy has purchased 135 feet of ground on the south side of Miami street, between Compton and Virginia avenues, for which $800 was paid. It is intended to establish a parish school upon the site.

NOTES.

The Workingmen's Building & Loan Association will hold its first regular meeting at 8 o'clock this evening at 612 Chestnut street.

A general meeting of the members of the Real Estate Exchange is called for 10 o'clock Saturday forenoon to take action with reference to a new location for the Exchange.

NEARLY ALL THE VISITORS REMAIN.

A Very Small Number of Departures From the Union Depot This Morning.

Depot Master Swan, Sergt. Mundinger and other Union Depot guardians were disappointed this morning—in an agreeable manner, however. In expectation that the crowds of visitors who thronged our streets all day yesterday and last night would return to their homes to-day the special detail of officers was kept on duty and preparations made to handle the multitude. But the multitude did not come. The jam was of but ordinary proportions, in no way equaling the one of yesterday morning so ably depicted in last evening's POST-DISPATCH. With their usual good judgment the visitors know a good thing when they see it and are going to stay and get the benefit of St. Louis and her Fair and Exposition attractions.

Jay Gould and his party left at 9 o'clock this morning for the West boarding the railway magnate's private car at the Union Depot. This is the second time Mr. Gould has been at the depot since his arrival—once coming and once going. He appeared to be in the same position as the hardened sinner who was afraid to go to church lest he should be converted. Mr. Gould will probably return through St. Louis in about ten days.

Two trains on the Missouri Pacific Railway were five hours late pulling into the Union Depot last night. The through Texas train, due at 5:50, arrived at 11:15, and the Benton accommodation due at 5:40, came in fifteen minutes later. Both trains had been delayed near Bismarck on account of the wreck of a freight train at the tunnel near that point. Missouri Pacific officials claim to know nothing whatever about the accident and the extent of the wreck cannot be ascertained. Nobody was hurt, but the passengers missed the pageant and those going through were compelled to wait until this morning to make connections.

RANSACKED THE HOUSE.

Burglars Take Possession of a Residence During the Absence of the Family.

Between 8 and 9 o'clock last night burglars entered the residence of George Weber, 1614 Helen street, while the members of the family were watching the parade and ransacked the house, securing a silver watch with gold chain attached, a gold necklace with pearl setting, a gold necklace with ruby setting, a plain gold ring, a pair of ear rings with coral setting, two pairs of gold cuff buttons, and two gold breast pins, all valued at $100. Three pocket-books were also taken containing $18 in money.

For Headache.

Use Horsford's Acid Phosphate.

Dr. I. E. Sanford, Sheffield, Mass., says: "Most excellent in derangements of the nervous system, such as headache and sleeplessness."

SETTLING COURT CASES.

THE KNIGHTS OF LABOR COMMITTEE DISPOSE OF A MASS OF BUSINESS.

Local Difficulties Among Brewers' Employes Practically Disposed Of—A Satisfactory Compromise Agreed Upon—The Knights and the Eight-Hour Law—Union With the Farmers' Alliance and Wheelers.

THIS morning the several Executive Committees of the Knights of Labor met in parlor 98 of the Laclede Hotel for the purpose of considering a number of court cases of minor importance that had been brought before it. None were of more than local interest, and all were rapidly disposed of, the table being cleared of a huge mass of manuscript with wonderful speed. "The order was never in such good condition as it is at present," said J. J. Holland of Jacksonsonville, Fla., "and the disputes requiring settlement are few in number and of small importance. We have gotten rid of nearly all the discordant and inflammatory elements that at one time kept the order in a ferment continually, the districts and assemblies are learning what they can do and what they cannot do, and consequently disaffection and dissatisfaction have almost entirely disappeared."

THE BEER BOYCOTT OFF.

"What about the trouble in relation to the beer boycott?"

"As stated in the POST-DISPATCH of yesterday, that matter is practically settled. Last night the members of the Executive Committee were in consultation with Assembly 7,563. The question was fully discussed, and the assembly agreed to the compromise suggested by us. To-night we meet the members of 818 and will recommend the compromise to them. There is no doubt whatever of its acceptance, and this will bring to an end the only labor trouble in the city."

"What is the nature of the compromise?"

"That I am not at liberty to say, but it is satisfactory to all parties concerned."

"Will Mr. Powderly return to this city?"

"He may pass through, but he will not stop, at least not more than a few hours. The Executive Board do not expect to meet him again here. He goes to Topeka, and probably will not leave the depot there."

THE EIGHT-HOUR LAW.

"What action will the Knights of Labor take in reference to the eight-hour law?"

"I do not know. That matter will be very fully considered at the convention to be held next month at Atlanta. The question is a very large one, and will be exhaustively discussed. Everyone has his opinion on it, but I know nothing definite of the action to be taken by the Knights of Labor. That will be settled at the next convention."

"Is it true that Powderly said that the Knights would inaugurate no strike for eight hours?"

"I do not know. I see by the dispatches that he said something of the kind at Chicago, but I do not absolutely know that he did so. I can say this, we are opposed on principle to strikes except as a last resort, when all other means have failed. Past experience has taught us that it is much better to arbitrate wherever this is possible and never to strike except in the last extremity. If Powderly said that there would be no strike on the 1st of May or any other fixed date in favor of the eight-hour law it comes pretty near being official.

"There has been a great deal of talk in the federated trades unions of inaugurating a general strike on May 1, but I do not know whether or not it will be done. I have heard on very good authority that those in charge of affairs are opposed to any such action. What the Knights of Labor will do, I can not say, but that they will order a general strike seems now most improbable. We do not try to accomplish our ends in that way."

THE FARMERS' ALLIANCE AND THE KNIGHTS.

"Is there any likelihood of an alliance between the Knights and the Farmers' Alliance?"

"As a matter of individual opinion I can say that I believe an alliance will be formed. There is a strong feeling that all wage-workers should have an organization that would enable them to work together. The Farmers' Alliance and the Wheelers wield a great power and are continually gaining in strength. The desire on both sides is to come together, and I believe that an alliance which will have all organizations included, liberty of action, but which will enable them to work for the same ends, is inevitable and trust in the near future."

The General Executive Committee expects to be able to complete its work by to-morrow night, but may not adjourn until Friday.

ARRESTED ON SUSPICION.

A Colored Man Captured by the Police and Suspected of Several Burglaries.

William Robinson, a colored man, was arrested about noon to-day by Officers Gafney and Flynn of the Third District on suspicion of having been connected with several robberies of recent occurrence. Among others he is thought to have assisted in the robbery of John Scullin's house. He was turned over to Chief of Detectives O'Neill to await identification. He had $92.05 in his pockets. He stated he was a roustabout by occupation, but that he had obtained most of the money by gambling.

THE POST-DISPATCH—PAGES 9 AND 10.

ST. LOUIS, WEDNESDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 9, 1889.

MUST COME TO ST. LOUIS.

THE WORLD'S FAIR AND COLUMBUS JUBILEE OF 1892.

Congressmen Making a Careful Survey of the Ground, and Asking Significant Questions—The Feeling in New York—What the Map Shows—Work of the Finance Committee.

ALTHOUGH the committees having in charge the interests of St. Louis in the competition for the World's Fair of 1892 have been holding no meetings lately, they have been far from idle. In fact it may be said that the work done during the last few days will be found, when the matter of location is brought before Congress, to have been the most effective of any that has been carried through since the agitation commenced. The Congressmen who were invited to attend the Veiled Prophets' parade, the ball, the Fair, and the Exposition, have been taken in charge by Frank Gaiennie and a deputation from the General Executive Committee and escorted to the various points of interest.

AMONG THE CONGRESSMEN

present were Darwin S. Hill of Minnesota; C. H. Mansur, Chillicothe, Mo.; R. H. Norton, Troy, Mo.; W. H. Wade, Springfield, Mo.; T. R. Stockdale, Summit, Miss.; C. A. Walker, Jackson, Miss.; C. A. Hill of Illinois; Lincoln Dubois of Illinois, and Fred T. Dubois of Idaho.

The representatives to the National Congress were escorted through the Exposition Building, driven to the Fair, where a complete inspection of all the exhibits was made, and in the evening taken in charge by a delegation of members of the Executive Committee and afforded a fine view of the Prophet's parade. They were invited to make the rooms of the Executive Committee their headquarters during their stay in the city, and have availed themselves of this invitation, the Congressmen spending nearly all their time in the Mermod & Jaccard building when not engaged in sight-seeing.

SOME SIGNIFICANT EXAMINATIONS.

The Missouri Representatives have all placed themselves on record as favoring St. Louis, but the others have previously had no openly pronounced bearings. Since their visit to the city there have joined the Mound City phalanx, Messrs. Stockdale and Hooker of Mississippi, and there is every reason to believe that the Representatives of other States will be found on the same side when the decisive vote is taken. All have manifested great interest in the Fair and Exposition, but those who have accompanied them on their excursions about the city, have noticed that particular attention has been paid to the railroad accommodations, the grounds suitable for a World's Fair, and the facilities for street car traffic. As a general thing visitors to the parks are interested in the parks alone, but the Congressmen requested that they be driven about the unoccupied grounds adjacent and asked many questions as to the acreage of tracts that could be obtained in case of necessity, the drainage facilities, the height above the river, and the means of communication that now existed, or could be called into existence. One or two of the delegates made trips both north and south, avoiding the thickly settled sections, and paying attention to the unoccupied territory. Yesterday afternoon a request was made at the World's Fair headquarters that a detailed map of the city might be shown, and several Congressman studied it carefully, asking many questions of the members of the Executive Committee present. A visit was paid to the Merchants' Bureau of Information by a Mississippi Congressman, and an estimate obtained of the number of people that could be supplied with quarters. These facts are regarded as most indicative of an intention on the part of those making the inquiries to advocate the cause of St. Louis.

A CONGRESSIONAL OPINION.

Last night an Illinois Congressman was looking over the register of visitors to the New Orleans Exposition, donated to the Executive Committee by George D. Barnard. After running over the leaves he turned to a member of the Finance Committee and said: "In three years from now St. Louis will have a very much larger book than that to show for herself."

"There is one thing that has struck all of us very forcibly since we have been here," said one of the Congressmen to a member of the Executive Committee, "and that is the delicate courtesy with which we have been treated. We come here on the invitation of the World's Fair Committee, but only to see the Exposition and Fair. It would be impolitic for some of us to express our preferences in regard to the World's Fair at the present time, and I know that I for one hesitated before I accepted the invitation, as I feared that embarrassing questions might be asked. My surprise absolutely nothing of the kind has been done. Of course we all know that the gentlemen with whom we have been brought into contact are intensely interested in the candidacy of St. Louis, but not a word was said to us that could by any possibility be regarded as an attempt to commit us to the support of this city. Our questions were answered, but at the faintest intimation the subject was dropped. I never saw such perfect courtesy in my life. We appreciate it, I can assure you, and St. Louis will not be the loser by it.

THE COMPARATIVE MAP.

"A thing that has not been recognized, or at least not brought out with sufficient strength, is the map showing the population within the St. Louis circle as compared with those of New York and Chicago. Not only is the population living within a distance that can be covered in thirty-six hours by the railroad trains much larger within the St. Louis circle than within that of either of the other cities, but it is much more evenly distributed. Take New York, for instance. Fully one-tenth of the population within the New York circle lives within fifty miles of the city. Chicago has a large population to the south and southwest, but to the northwest has scarcely anything. It can be seen from this that the Fair, if located in either city, would be of local importance only. Looking at the St. Louis circle it can be seen that its population is very evenly distributed in all directions and the location of the World's Fair in St. Louis would make it truly national, and prevent it from being overpowered by local influences."

A NEW YORKER'S VIEW.

On Monday, Henry M. Stewart, a member of the New York Stock Exchange, and a large ship owner, arrived in the city. He yesterday made a visit to the World's Fair headquarters and spent some time in looking over the letters and circulars. "I used to be a warm advocate of New York," Mr. Stewart said, "and was invited to become a member of the Executive Committee. But on reflection I became convinced that it would not be best for the fair to be located there, and I know that a large number of the Wall street men take the same view of matters. In the first place we have absolutely no place where the fair could be held. It would require eighty or ninety acres at the very lowest, and no such space is to be found on Manhattan Island, except in Central Park. Everyone knows the opposition that has arisen to taking any part of that park and the best legal talent has pronounced that the great pleasure ground of New Yorkers cannot be given up for any such purpose. The projects for locating the fair on an island prove how much we lack for a proper location. We all know that to depend upon boat transit would be a tremendous drawback.

NEW YORK NOT IN EARNEST.

The men on the Executive Committee recognize this and many of them are not in earnest in their labors. That accounts for the fact that New York, the richest city in the country, has an insured fund of less than a quarter of a million of dollars, while St Louis has already raised nearly $5,000,000. To have the Fair in St. Louis would benefit New York capitalists greatly by opening new fields for investments. We have far more money at home than use for it. The Southwest is now the growing section, and all that it needs is money. If national and international attention is drawn to this growth, it will open fields for the permanent investment of at least $100,000,000, which will come largely from New York and Europe. New York, being the banking city of the country, will be almost as much benefited as St. Louis by foreign investments in the Southwest. I have been traveling a great deal through the Eastern and Middle States during the last three months, and have talked with hundreds of men in reference to the World's Fair. The English used to claim that their country was the greatest in the world because every foreigner placed it next in importance to his own. Applying the same test, St. Louis is the favorite, because it is the second choice of almost everyone."

THE AUXILIARY COMMITTEES.

The idea of forming auxiliary committees in other States, composed of former missionaries, has proved to be a most happy one. Already answers to the letters of those having this branch of the congressional agitation in charge are coming in, and in nearly every case the response has been an enthusiastic one. An auxiliary committee has been formed in Omaha, with a large membership. From the replies already received it is safe to count Montana in the St. Louis column, as a very large percentage of the population of that State emigrated from Missouri, and the old attachment to their native State continues strong. Favorable replies have also been received from Dakota and Colorado and a telegram from San Francisco announces that the Missourians of California will do their duty.

The attempts of Chicago to invade St. Louis territory have been more conspicuous for envy than for success. The Executive Committee last week addressed a letter to the officers of the great County Fair of White County, Ark., asking that the farmers be assembled to take action favoring the selection of Chicago. The following reply was sent by President D. L. McLeod and Secretary C. D. Jonas:

"Rats! We are for St. Louis first, last and all the time." Answers of similar import, although less bluntly expressed, have been sent from a number of the principal points in Arkansas, Texas, Louisiana and Southern Kansas.

THE FINANCIAL STATUS.

The Finance Committee has been steadily although quietly at work, and when the report is presented it will prove a surprise to the most optimistic believers in the ability of St. Louis to raise a large sum in a short time. Nearly all the books given to the collectors have been returned to Secretary John S. Moffitt. The committee has decided not to make the results of the collection public until a meeting of the Finance and Executive Committees can be held next week, but it is stated on excellent authority that in nearly every instance the allotments have been very largely exceeded, and that the footings show that over $4,500,000 have already been pledged. This is exclusive of several heavy subscriptions which are sure to be made, but upon which corporations have not yet been able to pass. The railroad allotment of $1,000,000 is an instance. All managers have heartily recommended the appropriation of this amount, and express their confident belief that it will be donated, but until the apportionment has been made and the different directories have made appropriations, the result cannot be officially announced. Many of the large corporations are in the same situation, and it is regarded as certain that when all contributions have been received the total will amount to not less than $7,000,000. When this is compared with the $800,000 of the Chicago fund, and the beggarly $250,000 assured to the New York Executive Committee, it is plain that the claims of St. Louis are as strong because of the public spirit of its citizens as they are on account of its natural advantages.

A PROMISING CAREER CUT SHORT.

The Peculiar Methods Used by Mr. Max Solomon, Professional Beggar.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—Police Justice Ford temporarily ended a modest but promising career last week by committing to the city prison for six months the person of Mr. Max Solomon, alias Seligman, who was convicted of receiving money on false pretenses. The story of Mr. Solomon's life would form admirable material for an aspiring dramatist or novel writer had not its salient points been already employed in well-known works of fiction and popular plays. He was a kind of "Jekyl-and-Hyde" man, who followed the methods of "Jim, the Penman," in an amateur way. His life was a dual one; he committed forgery whenever the exigencies of his business necessitated it and he secured all of the needful things and many of the luxuries of existence by cultivation of the art of begging. The talent which Mr. Solomon exhibited as a mendicant was that of positive genius, but, as in everything else, he only attained this high grade by continuous effort. His father was a professional beggar before him and for years the son devoted himself to the study of how to live at somebody else's expense. That he achieved a dazzling success was shown by the story of his captor, Special Officer Hebbard of the Charity Society, who ran him to the ground and secured his conviction.

"The case of Solomon," said Mr. Hebbard, "is one of the most peculiar that I have ever encountered. For several years we have been looking for him, but only lately picked up a profitable clue. We followed this up and caught him. In the spring of 1884 the society was informed that a young man named Max Solomon had been calling upon well-known generous people with a letter which he said had been given him to deliver by his father. It was signed 'Henry Solomon,' and begged for relief, as the writer was in bed with rheumatism and had a starving family on his hands. The bearer looked all right and the letter seemed plausible, so money was usually given. The address on the letter was No. 403 East Seventy-first street, but upon investigation it was found that no such person resided there nor was known in the neighborhood. We heard of the young man and his letter from time to time, and on September 30 received a telegram saying that a person whose description corresponded with Solomon's had presented a letter the previous day at a house on Irving place and had agreed to come back the next morning for any aid that might be forthcoming. I went to the place at the time mentioned and found Mr. Max Solomon himself."

Mr. Hebbard promptly gathered in the young swindler and bore him to the prison. He confessed to the officer that his father had been a professional beggar and had trained him, to the business, so that when he died eight years ago he was proved a fit successor. His income averaged from $2 to $10 a day, which he spent every night. For some time past he has been living on Pleasant avenue and was well known in local society circles. He always dressed well and frequently went to balls and theaters, announcing himself to be a messenger in the Stock Exchange. His name appeared in the city directory and no one doubted him.

AN ENTIRELY NEW STORY.

Mrs. Eva Hamilton Tells the Reporters About Her Past Life.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—Mrs. Eva Hamilton has been talking to reporters again and an entirely new story is the result. She gives her side of this extraordinary scandal and tells how she met Robert Ray Hamilton, was married to him and how to prevent "Josh" Mann from telling her husband of her past life she submitted to his blackmailing schemes. She says she was an actress once and was with the Florences for a time. She says she did not want to marry Hamilton, but was forced to do so by Josh Mann and his mother, and that that worthy couple profitted more by the marriage than she did. She insists that she still loves Hamilton and believes that they would have lived happily had it not been for Josh Mann and his mother. She protests that she is not as bad as the newspapers would make her out and that most of the stories about her are pure fiction. Mrs. Hamilton still says that Beatrice is her child and explains the purchase of babies by Mrs. Swinton by saying that they were for another woman.

THE PLACE OF HONOR.

INDIANA APPOINTS THE FIRST DELEGATES TO THE NATIONAL SILVER CONVENTION.

Gov. Hovey Recognizes the Importance of the Movement to the Agricultural Interests—A Strong Letter Received From Wyoming—The Dangers Threatening the South and West Plainly Stated.

THE National Silver Convention movement is rapidly spreading all over the country. As stated in the POST-DISPATCH yesterday, it is attracting almost as much attention in the East, from an educational point of view, as it is in the West, and it is now more than ever certain that the convention will be one of the largest and most thoroughly representative ever held in St. Louis. The attendance will be of gentlemen who should see and become acquainted with St. Louis as St. Louis is. There is no city in the country with as varied, substantial and extensive improvements, made in the last few years, as St. Louis, and, as seeing is believing, the National Silver Convention will give an opportunity of proving this prior to the decision as to the site of the World's Fair by Congress.

That the questions to come before the convention are viewed as set forth in the paper sent out by the Committee on Call and Address, with the mining industry as an incidental rather than a principal feature, is undisputed. Indiana has the honor of naming to the conventionunder the apportionment fixed by the committee. It shows that the people of the agricultural States have quite as much interest in the matter as those of the mining sections. The Indiana appointments are made as follows:

STATE OF INDIANA,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT,
GOVERNOR'S OFFICE,
INDIANAPOLIS, IND., Oct. 5, 1889.

A. Singer, Esq., 319 North Third Street, St. Louis, Mo.:

Hon. W. R. McKeen, Terre Haute, Ind.
Isaac Jenkinson, Richmond, Ind.
John Mitchell, Kendallville, Ind.
A. J. Murdock, Logansport, Ind.
John F. Johnson, Logansport, Ind.
A. F. Kopp, Indianapolis, Ind.
Edward B. Porter, Indianapolis, Ind.
John P. Frenzel, Indianapolis, Ind.
J. D. Bond, Ft. Wayne, Ind.
William Fleming, Ft. Wayne, Ind.
Hon. James M. Reynolds, Lafayette, Ind.

A. B. Miller, South Bend, Ind.
John M. Lockwood, Mt. Vernon, Ind.
Charles A. Fowler, Mt. Vernon, Ind.
Charles Viele, Evansville, Ind.
Russell Bement, Evansville, Ind.
Jas. H. McNeely, Evansville, Ind.
Theodore P. Haughey, Indianapolis, Ind.

Yours truly,
W. R. ROBERTS,
Private Secretary.

One of the strongest letters yet received in reference to the convention comes from

MR. M. N. GRANT,

President of the Electric Gas-Light & Fuel Co., Laramie, Wyo., as follows:

LARAMIE, Wyo., Oct. 4, 1889.

James Campbell, Chairman National Silver Convention, St. Louis, Mo.:

DEAR SIR—Your letter of September 27 at hand. I have been unable to give it earlier attention on account of my attendance upon the Coustitutional Convention of Wyoming. You can rest assured that I will do all in my power to bring about the unlimited coinage of the silver we produce, and I can safely say that I voice the sentiments of nine-tenths of the people in the West. We shall have four new States represented in Congress this winter to help us. If we can get Idaho, Wyoming, New Mexico and Arizona admitted into the Union this winter I believe that the South and West will be able to demand justice, and receive it. The life blood is being gradually sapped from the people of the South and West, particularly of the farming element. If we continue under present conditions for a great length of time there will be a and oppression equal to any in the history of the world. To avert that calamity the South and West should go hand in hand regardless of politics, for the formation of States in the West any man acting from a political standpoint is a traitor to good government. We must look the situation squarely in the face. What is our condition? In my opinion it is this: The South and West borrowed millions of dollars in Europe and the East in times when the purchasing power of a dollar was from 25 to 100 per cent less than it is now. If money lenders can continue this condition or even increase the purchasing power of a dollar by contracting the currency we shall have to pay them a value from $2 to $3 for every dollar we have borrowed. Owing to the rapid development of the South and West the demand for an increased circulating medium has been so great that the purchasing power of a dollar is nearly double what it was a few years ago. This state of things will continue to grow worse, unless remedied.

REIGN OF LANDLORDISM

PROMPT ACTION

may save thousands from bankruptcy and avert a financial crash unparalleled in the history of the nation. Such a financial crisis would add millions to the wealth of the money lenders of the East and impoverish the borrowers of the South and West. Europe has practically controlled the coinage of silver in the United States, and profited by our stupidity. We now have it in our power to relieve ourselves and establish our commercial relations with the world in such a way as to enable us to compete with any nation on earth. If this is not accomplished, it will be because we have demagogues in Congress instead of statesmen. The United States produce about one-third of the gold and a little over two-fifths of the silver produced in the world. Should we coin our silver instead of shipping a large portion of it to Europe in the shape of bullion at a heavy discount, the demand would increase and silver would go up at once. Under these conditions it is a mystery to me why we submit to dictation from New York and Europe. Very truly yours, M. N. GRANT.

There are also several other communications at hand which show the interest taken in the question on all sides.

The books for the sub-committees of the Finance Committee will be sent out to-day, and this work will be commenced at once. The members of the committees are urgently requested to close it up as soon as possible.

STORE CLOSES THURSDAY AT 1 O'CLOCK, on account of the GREAT FAIR DAY.

WITH GREAT CEREMONY,

THE PROPHET WILL BE RECEIVED BY THE GENERAL PUBLIC AT THE EXPOSITION.

The Building to Be Ablaze With Lights—A Parade Around the Naves and Galleries—A Tableaux of Surpassing Grandeur—More Surprises Promised—The Visitors Patronizing the Big Show Heavily.

OR the first time since the Veiled Prophet has been making his annual visits to St. Louis, he has condescended to remain two nights in succession. The splendor of his pageant was seen by hundreds of thousands of people on the streets last night, and several select thousand had the pleasure of touching the hem of his garment in the grand ball in the Music Hall. To-night the general public is invited to be present at the reception to be tendered His Majesty and his royal crew in the Exposition building by the managers and Gilmore's band. He will appear about 8 o'clock, after the first part of the musical programme is finished, and those who wish to get a choice position to see the procession as it winds through the aisles and corridors had better call early and take their stand. To give a close view of the costumes to as many persons as possible the procession will go through all the naves and galleries headed by Gilmore's Band, playing national airs and marches. It is thought the march will take up one hour, at the conclusion of which the Prophet and his retinue will file into the Music Hall and onto the great stage. After a short intermission the immense curtain will be lifted and disclose a tableux, the like of which has never been seen on any stage. It will be simply gorgeous.

Among the selections on Gilmore's musical programme for to-night are two compositions by local musicians, the "Waltz of Love," by August William Hoffman, and Charles Kunkel's "Alpine Storm." The programme is as follows:

7 P. M.

1. Overture—"Midsummer Night's Dream" ..... Mendelssohn
2. "Pilgrim's Song of Hope" ..... Ballste
3. Concert schottische—"First Love" ..... Marie E. McLane
4. Grand selection—No. 3 from "The Huguenots" ..... Meyerbeer
5. Saxophone solo—"Sweet Spirits, Hear My Prayer" ..... Wallace
   Mr. A. E. Lefebre.
6. Spanish March—"Puerto Real" ..... Sourranza

9 P. M.

1. Overture—"Rakoczy" ..... Kelar Bela
2. Song—"Awakening of Spring" ..... Bach
3. Grand selection from "The Star of the North" ..... Meyerbeer
4. Valse d'Amour, "Caprice" ..... August William Hoffman
5. Chorus from "The Enchantress," "Ever Be Happy" ..... Balfe
   [The soprano obligato will be taken by the clarionet corps in unison.]
6. Descriptive idylic—"An Alpine Storm" ..... Charles Kunkel

This week will not close the Exposition as many have thought. There is still that "home week," so memorable at the close of all previous Expositions when the public, as though desirous of showing its appreciation of the "City's Pride," visited the Exposition in great numbers. The management have several more surprises for the home folks next week and then there is Prof. Gilmore who always holds his best until the last, and the last is always better than the one preceeding it. There are many musical treats yet in Gilmore's big box which he will bring out at the proper time and with due announcement. Then there are a few exhibitors who are preparing surprises in their especial line which will also be very pleasing and add to the attractiveness of "our Ex."

The Exposition can now be seen at its best. Many exhibitors wait until Fair week to put the finishing touches to their booths or add to their attractiveness, and many have done so this week. Cards and souvenirs, little trinkets worth keeping as remembrances of the great show, are being given away more freely than ever.

* * *

All day long a stream of humanity poured in and out of the great building. Many hundred visitors who would have gone to the Exposition last night, but could not, remained in the city and went to the great show to-day. It has been noticed this week that many of the visitors who visit the Ex. in the forenoon are so carried away by the myriad of things around them that they do not feel the time pass or become tired until some one asks, "I wonder what time it is?" The answer comes back that it is late in the afternoon and the party suddenly feel hungry and rush away to get something to eat only to return and continue seeing the sights, which to examine closely would take more than a week.

"Golden Rod," the musical success of Gilmore's Band, last night and which was played for the first time since its publication this week, is by Mrs. Jessie Beattie Thomas, wife of John R. Thomas, the Illinois' Congressman, and daughter of Dr. Beattie, late Surgeon in the United States Army of Redbud, Ill. The song of the "Nation's Choice" is pronounced by the most critical musicians of great superiority, and they predict that it will become a national favorite. Last night it received enthusiastic applause and the great leader gave an encore by repeating it. The tableau accompanying the music was a brilliant addition, and an auspicious omen for the future success. A great many of the friends of Mrs. Thomas came from distant cities last evening especially to be present at the production of the "Golden Rod," though the author herself was obliged to leave for Washington a few days since to join her husband at the Ebbitt House, where they will spend the winter. A congratulatory telegram was sent her last night, signed by twenty friends, announcing the success of the music. Mrs. Thomas is a very young and beautiful woman and a great social light in Washington circles, as well as those of her home. Her musical education was obtained in St. Louis, where she has a large circle of friends. She has a circlet of gifts, being a fine practical musician as well as composer, a clever poet and sparkling writer, besides attending closely to her social claims.

Get a position in the naves or gallery early, to get a close look at the rich costumes and jewels of the Prophet and his followers.

The fish tanks have been among the leading attractions this week and were surrounded by crowds from the opening to the close.

The $1,500 transparent watch, about which so much has been said and asked about, can be seen in the basement near the Thirteenth street entrance.

Gilmore's band can march and play as well as when seated on the stage, a fact they will demonstrate in leading the Prophet around the building to-night.

The electric piano in the north nave plays only between 8 and 9 o'clock in the evening. It is a very amusing sight to see the keys bobbing up and down and nothing in sight to cause them to do so. One would think spooks or fairies were rambling over the keys.

One of the prettiest solos played by any member of the band will be rendered to-night by E. A. Lefebre on his soft-toned saxaphone in the old but pretty ballad "Sweet Spirits Hear My Prayer."

Strict orders have been issued for the benefit of the dudes and other male specie that no flirting with the female characters in the Prophet's retinue will be allowed. If any flirting is to be done the popcorn girl is there for that purpose.

Welding by electricity in the basement had its share of curious and wondering visitors, who watched the strange force blend copper to brass and join pieces of metal from the size of a needle to a shaft three inches in in diameter in a union which was inseparable.

Demolished by a Locomotive.

A Missouri Pacific train struck and instantly killed a horse and totally demolished a wagon at the foot of Gratiot street yesterday morning. The outfit, which was owned by Roe Bros., 1815 Park avenue, was left standing on the track. THE MEXICAN ORE QUESTION.

The Cry of Retaliation All Nonsense—Mexico Really Benefited.

Judge M. F. Cleary, who, as stated in yesterday's POST-DISPATCH, has just returned from Mexico, where he closed the sale of a large gold mining property, involving $2,000,000 in money, to a strictly American syndicate, was asked this morning what he thought of the Mexican ore question, which he was said to have investigated very closely.

"Think," he replied, "why, I think it is all cry and no wool. I think that Mexico will be and is decidedly benefited by the rulings of the Secretary of the Treasury. As for myself I am an out and out free trader in everything, and I am satisfied that such a thing as protection is abhorrent to real democratic principles, and fatal to republican institutions. While I believe that everything ought to be free to the wage-earner, who is in fact and truth the only wealth producer, and that the rich should alone and single-handed bear all the burdens of the State, while I believe in these principles firmly, yet I fully indorse Secretary Windom's action in this matter, for it is simply consistent with the principles of the Republican party, and that party is nothing unless it be consistent first, last and all the time, whether in the right or in the wrong. My view is that the Mexican ore question has simply resolved itself down to whether a few American ore buyers in Mexico can import lead free of duty from Mexico, when it is dutiable under the laws of this country.

ALL OF THIS NOISE

about retaliation is simply the mouthings of these disappointed American ore buyers, in having to pay the regular duty on lead. The people of Mexico will in the end be benefited by this ruling, for they will build their own smelters and smelt their own ores, thus giving work and employment to many thousands of their miners and laborers. This thing will right itself, and Americans have but to know Mexico and Mexicans to be their friends and to love them."

"How are Americans liked in Mexico?" was asked.

"Better than any other nationality."

"How many miles have you covered since you started out?"

"Since July 24 I have traveled over ten thousand miles, and have never missed being on time a single minute, never missed an hour's rest and, what's more, have had accidents and floods before and behind me, yet have pulled always safely through on time. The system of railroads in Mexico, where conducted by Americans on the American plan, is first class in every particular."

CITY NEWS.

It goes to show how the public discrimination finds out the place at which to do its merchandising when it stands as a positive fact that there were yesterday trading at the Great Broadway Bazaar of D. Crawford & Co. twice as many people as in any of the other city marts. Stores with the "big head," which pay from $50,000 to $60,000 a year rental, can not begin to sell goods as cheaply as does the store always doing a bigger business than any of them, and which pays only a fifth as much rent. "Featherbrain" at the Grand—The "Corsair," "A Parlor Match," Etc.

"Featherbrain" was given its second production at the Grand last night. The people of the company had been well rested after their long ride and performance Monday evening, the play was set with the original scenery used in New York, and the effect was very much better than on the previous evening. The comedy is really a delightful one. As suggested yesterday the star part, taken by Miss Minnie Maddern, will stand development, but as it is it is very unique and she presents it with good judgment. An extra matinee will be given to-morrow.

"The Corsair" continues to please at the Olympic. The production is fully equal to any ever given of this pleasing production, the company is a good one, the ladies graceful, well formed and pretty in face as well as figure, and the stage handsomely set.

* * *

"A Parlor Match" is pleasing large audiences at Pope's. Evans & Hoey have added several new and popular features to the entertainment and it is fully enjoyed even by those who see it for the tenth time.

The Two Macs are pleasing the patrons of the People's. The Howard Atheneum Co. surrounding them is an excellent one with strong features.

The thrilling trapeze act of the Austin Sisters and the ceiling walking of Mlle. Aimee, in the Australian Novelty Co., at the Standard, are attracting crowds of people.

FATALLY HURT AT PLAY.

A Little Boy Falls Under the Wheels of a Street-Car While Stealing a Ride.

Charles Hodson, a 9-year-old boy, died at his home, 1112 North Nineteenth, at 6:15 o'clock this morning of internal injuries. The boy was hurt about 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon. It appears that he, with a number of other small boys, was jumping on and off the street cars passing Morgan street on Sixth street. The practice had continued for some time when Hodson fell from the step of a north-bound car, the wheels of No. 6, south-bound, passing over his abdomen as he lay on the track. Drs. Yarnell, Dickson and Outly were soon in attendance and ordered the boy taken to the City Dispensary. He was afterwards removed to his home. Daniel Donahue, the driver of the car, was placed under arrest and locked up at the Third District Police Station. He will be held to await the Coroner's inquest, which will be held sometime late this afternoon.

TO ANSWER FOR MURDER.

A Prisoner Arrested in This City a Year After the Crime.

Prosecuting Attorney Jett of Montgomery County, Ill., arrived in St. Louis to-day to collect evidence in the case of Thomas R. Knaggs, whose trial for murder comes up in the court of Montgomery County at Hillsboro the third week in November next. Knaggs, it will be remembered, is charged with the assassination of a prominent citizent of Litchfield, Ill., who was called to his door early on the morning of April 1, 1888, and shot to death. The prisoner was arrested in this city one year later by Detective Archambault, who discovered and disarmed him at a hotel at Third and Walnut streets. Mr. Jett insists that he has a sure case against the defendant.

Fatally Hurt.

About 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon Arthur Thalbert, a colored man 25 years of age, was kicked in the side by a horse while at work in the sale stable of Martin Bros., at 1446 North Broadway. Dr. Whittaker says that one rib is broken and internal injuries received which may prove fatal. Thalbert lives in the alley between Seventh and Eighth streets and Franklin avenue and Morgan street. He was removed to his home.

THE highest prize for portrait photographs, a silver medal, was awarded to F. W. Guerin at the World's Exposition, Paris, France.

He Weakened.

William Haahn attempted to commit suicide about 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon by hanging himself to a beam in the out-house of his residence, near Bobringville, St. Louis County. As he was about to kick the box upon which he was standing his courage failed him. He untied the rope and returned to his house. No cause can be learned for his attempt to destroy his life.

The house was damaged to the amount of $50 and furniture to the amount of $100. The explosion of a hanging lamp was the cause.

THE PROPHET'S PAGEANT

A GRAND CELEBRATION IN HONOR OF HIS MAJESTY'S ANNUAL VISIT.

Music Hall Transformed by His Mystic Power Into a Royal Court—Grand Tableaux Representing Scenes From the Operas Illustrated—The Ball-Room a Scene of Splendor and Magnificence.

DAY was breaking this morning when the last of the Prophet's subjects left the temple of gaiety provided for his reception and took their way home. The air was chilly and a sharp wind was blowing. The fair ones pulled their shawls and wraps close about them and shivered as they hurried down the long steps to their carriages. Drivers cracked their whips and away flew vehicles in every direction; the lights in the hall went out, the doors of the building were closed with a bang, the squad of police in their brand new suits formed on the sidewalk and marched away. The ball was over and the Veiled Prophet was gone.

The night had been filled with spectacles more gorgeous and brilliant than the world had ever seen, and the Veiled Prophet, whose mighty eyes have swept over every pageant since the foundation of the universe, rose from his lofty seat and gazed in amazement on the series of pictures and stream of blazing light that poured down the avenues behind him. He had commanded that this parade should eclipse all the others, and when he viewed the scene he raised his hands aloft and said: "It is well."

In accordance with the imperial edict, left the den at 8 o'clock and began to move at 8:10 o'clock. Twenty-first street from Walnut to Washington avenue was crowded with admiring subjects. Seats had been erected along the line, and every one and every window was crowded far beyond the point of comfort by the loyal people of the Prophet's kingdom. Washington avenue from Twenty-first to Fourth streets was so densely packed that with difficulty the procession advanced, and Fourth street and Broadway were filled with the same dense throng of spectators. The way of the parade was a glare of brilliant light. Attendants bore flaring torches that illuminated each float, and the electric lamps along the street were all ablaze. The pageant was preceded by two platoons of mounted police, and then followed the Grand Marshal and his staff, the Imperial Band, and then came the first float, a high and lofty throne, on which was seated His Gracious Majesty the Veiled Prophet.

THE PARADE

Here is the order of the floats:

1. The Veiled Prophet.
2. Offenbach's "Grand Duchesse."
3. Audrain's "Mascott."
4. Lecocq's "Girofle-Girofla."
5. Planquette's "Chimes of Normandy."
6. Gilbert & Sullivan's "Pinafore."
7. Gilbert & Sullivan's "Patience."
8. Genet's "Nanon."
9. Audrain's "Olivette."
10. Offenbach's "Orpheus and Eurydice."
11. Millocker's "Beggar Student."
12. Rice's "Evangeline."
13. Von Suppe's "Boccaccio."
14. Strauss' "Queen's Lace Handkerchief."
15. Gilbert & Sullivan's "Mikado."
16. Spencer's "Little Tycoon."
17. Burn's "Pearl of Pekin."
18. Von Suppe's "Trip to Africa."
19. Rice's "Conrad the Corsair."
20. Jacobowski's "Erminie."
21. Chassaigne's "Nadji."
22. "Monte Cristo, Jr."

The floats were all described and illustrated in the last SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH. As the procession moved through the vast crowd each float awakened cheers, and the streets rang out with one prolonged hurrah for the grandeur of the spectacle. Each was a surprise and each was a wonder of beauty and taste. The ingenuity of the artist had been woefully taxed, and never could human skill unaided have produced works of such wondrous splendor. But the Prophet sent his own Imperial artist, who lent his mystic imagination's aid to Mr. ——, well, it would be better not to give his name, but together they contrived the floats and the Prophet approved their work.

The return up Washington avenue was not so difficult as the march down had been, for many of the people had gone home and the procession moved on to the west door of the Exposition Building, where the Prophet and his royal retinue dismounted. The Mikado float caught fire as Nanki-Pooh stepped off, but the Prophet waved his wand and the flames leaped into the air, wriggled and writhed as if in anger at their defeat, then vanished. Within the building the procession was formed and His Majesty led the way into the hall, where his heralds proclaimed the opening of the ball.

The Prophet's Ball.

The Prophet's ball surpassed in brilliancy any of previous years. The change in location from the Merchants' Exchange to the Music Hall probably had considerable to do with making it a greater success than ever. Music Hall being more accessible and permitting of better arrangements its selection seemed to add no little to the interest manifested in the great social event. The main entrance to the Exposition was beautifully decorated with the Prophet's colors yesterday and last night under the glare of the electric lights the scene presented was like some stage picture. The streets all around the Exposition building were occupied by streams of humanity. All were curious to see the Prophet and his retinue dismount, and to witness also the arrival of the beautiful and magnificently dressed ladies of St. Louis. When the floats arrived and pulled up to the curb the crowd pressed so close that it was with great difficulty that the police made way for the Prophet and his followers. When they finally did reach the hall the costumes of many, especially of the "ladies," were somewhat damaged. The decorations of the ball-room were much more simple than usual, it being decided not to have any space taken up by fountains and flowers, as all the room available would be needed. The drapery, however, was very pretty and artistic. The colors of the Prophet, orange, blue and red, were twined around columns, festooned around the circle and balcony and boxes in a most attractive and pleasing manner.

The programmes were given out in the corridor, and the design was so unique as to evoke general admiration. Each programme consisted of a tambourine, three inches in diameter and one inch in breadth. Appended were six bells and a delicate purple pencil. By means of a spring the sheepskin would fly back and disclose the inscription: "Grand March of the Prophets," Wagner; Quadrille, "Beggar Student;" "Veiled Prophets and Ladies," Millocker. Then there was another spring which, when touched, caused four leaves to fly up and disclose the following programme of the dances for the evening:

FIRST PART.

1. Waltz—"Pearl of Pekin" .... Kerkel
2. Lancers—"Erminie" .... Jacobowski
3. Harvard—"Elsa" .... Daniels
4. Waltz—"Sweet Dream" .... Eilenberg
5. Lancers—"Mikado" .... Sullivan
6. Polka—"Nadji" .... Chassaigne

SECOND PART.

7. Quadrille—"Orpheus .... Offenbach
8. Waltz—"Gipsy Baron" .... Strauss
9. Lancers—"Journey Through Africa" .... Suppe
10. Galop—"Electric Sparks" .... Weingarten
11. Waltz—"Longing" .... Sebar
12. Virginia Reel.

A harp and scroll surmounted each page, and at the bottom was a rose set in a bunch of forget-me-nots.

Gov. Francis and his staff arrived at 8:30. The members of the staff were all dressed in full regimentals. The staff consisted of the following warriors: Col. Winslow Judson of St. Joseph; Col. John H. Garth of Hannibal; Col. John Carroll of Union; Adjt.-Gen. J. A. Wickham, Gen. James M. Lewis, Col. Chris Ellerbe and Col. Wm. Bull of St. Louis.

THE TABLEAUX.

Everyone waited with expectancy for the grand tableaux; with eagerness they waited, for they knew when the curtain rose a series of gorgeous scenes, surpassing in splendor the most brilliant conceptions of mortal imagination would, through the gracious favor of the mighty Prophet, be disclosed to human eyes. The curtain rose, and behind it was another, bearing a picture of the Genius of Music, standing tiptoe on a globe, painted a delicate gray, to represent the dawning hour. From her extended hand floated a banner bearing the names of the operas to be represented. A group of courtiers stood on either side of the stage. This curtain was rolled up on the first of a series of transformation scenes. There was the balloon, from Rice's "Evangeline," shown against a cloudy sky that rolled upward and produced a most perfect illusion. The balloon seemed to be descending and when it touched the earth its occupants stepped out and it shot up again out of the way, leaving the characters on a grand stairway and revealing the groups of characters from "Erminie" and the "Chimes of Normandy." Behind them was a curtain of blue and white spangled gold that glittered and shone in the light. When it rose the scene it disclosed was the finale of "Pinafore," the gallant ship floating lightly on the blue waves and manned by her gallant crew. The scene was dexterously removed and the characters were left standing on the stairway a little above Evangeline and the other characters. On the right of Pinafore was a group from the "Queen's Lace Handkerchief," representing Her Majesty on the throne, the King beside her scrutinizing her handkerchief and the courtiers standing near by dressed in gorgeous attire. On the left was a brilliant and gaudy scene from "Conrad, the Corsair," representing the rescue of Medora from Yussef and Seyd Pasha. The curtain disclosed was thin and filmy, delicate as a spider's web, and indeed a huge spider was faintly traced in the center of a delicately drawn web. It was raised, and there was Mirandella making love to Tessa, his deserted wife, who in their "Trip to Africa" has been so completely disguised that he does not know her. The Pasha stood by listening, and the dusky figures of his followers, who stood by, were in good contrast with the brilliancy of the group surrounding them. On the other side the Grand Duchess was standing, conversing with Gen. Bowen by her camp-fire. The next curtain was rung up, and groups from "Nadjy," the "Beggar Student," "Monte Cristo, Jr.," and "Boccaccio" were presented. The costumes were gorgeous, and the scene was the most brilliant of all. Another curtain went up, and there were revealed scenes from the "Little Tycoon," "Pearl of Pekin," Nanon" and "Mikado," and just above them were "Orpheus" and "La Mascotte." One more curtain, it was the last, and seated on a throne, which was the apex of the pyramid, was His Majesty the Veiled Prophet, attended by his two high priests and Secretaries of State and of the Exchequer.

The grand tableau was now complete and 5,000 spectators gazed upon it in amazement, silently admiring its beauty, and as a shower of gold began to fall over the scene they burst forth in applause. Then the Prophet left his seat and the members of his retinue made way for him as he walked with stately tread down the steps of the pyramid, and they formed in line behind him and marched out on the ball-room floor. He nodded his head to his heralds and they proclaimed the opening of the ball.

At the conclusion of the tableaux, Mr. E. C. Simmons, Chairman of the Reception Committee, of the Prophet and, taking him by the arm, escorted him down the steps to the left of the stage. Mr. Wm. H. Thompson escorted the Queen. Then the grand march began. His Highness, attended by his myrmidons, proceeded around the hall for the purpose of selecting a partner for the first dance. To be chosen by the Prophet to lead the inaugural dance with him is a great honor, and there was great curiosity as to who his choice would be. After surveying many fair faces presented to him as he went round he selected one from the throng. "Who is she?" was the question asked by all as the Prophet led her forward. She was Miss Wain of Cleveland, O. The quadrille then began. The crowd on the floor was so large that it interfered not a little with the dancing. Many thought the ball-room was smaller than the Merchants' Exchange Hall, but this was not the case. In fact, the flooring, which was of pine, covered 1,000 more square feet than does the hall of the Merchants' Exchange. The gallery was crowded with those who came merely for the purpose of looking on and all enjoyed the brilliant scene which the great ball-room presented.

ASCENDED THE THRONE

MARRIED ON HIS DEATHBED.

The Romance of Dr. Seth Eastman and Miss Dalzel, His Nurse.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—A marriage announcement and a death notice sent to the WORLD office last night suggested a romance such as is often found in books, but seldom in life. One stated that October 7, at the Sturtevant House, Miss Jeanette Dalzel of Boston was married to Dr. Seth Eastman of Concord, N. H. The other recited that October 8, at the Sturtevant House, Dr. Seth Eastman died. This morning the father of the deceased and the widow will bear the body to Concord for burial. Last night the father related the details of the romance. Dr. Eastman had been employed for some years as a surgeon on the Rotterdam line of steamships when, a year ago last September, he landed in Amsterdam, apparently a perfectly healthy man. Being possessed of unusual attractions in manner and conversation he made many friends among the passengers. During the last days of the voyage the other passengers had noticed that in the case of Miss Jeanette Dalzel, a trained nurse of Boston and a lady of education and refinement, these attractions appeared to be mutual to an interesting degree. Soon after landing Dr. Eastman walked to a hotel to call on one of the passengers and ran up two flights of stairs, when he was attacked by a sudden hemorahage which brought him to death's door in less than a minute. Miss Dalzel, who was stopping at the same hotel, was almost the first to reach the side of the stricken man, and it was three weeks before she left him for an hour. The slightest movement started the hemorrhage afresh. Miss Dalzel's nursing was a marvel of skill and devotion. Without her aid the doctors would have deemed the case hopeless. Slowly Dr. Eastman's lungs recovered from the shock, but constant attention was necessary to prevent its recurrence. Miss Dalzel gave attention daily and the attachment between them grew stronger. When the patient was about to sit up it became evident that nothing but the warmth of a semi-tropical country could restore him to health. His sister, who had arrived from Concord, determined to take him to the Barbadoes. Even now a trained nurse was necessary, and there was but one trained nurse in the world for Dr. Eastman. Miss Dalzel accompanied the patient and his sister to the Barbadoes. Before these islands had been reached the sister knew that the strongest wish of her brother was to become well enough to make Miss Dalzel his wife. In the Barbadoes he, in a few months, so far regained his former strength that he resumed the performance of his duties on board the Rotterdam steamers. Miss Dalzel returned to Boston. The marriage ceremony was in contemplation for an early date. A few weeks ago Dr. Eastman arrived in this city, feeling very weak and depressed. He put up at the Sturtevant House and wrote his father of his condition and his desire to be again in the skilful hands of Miss Dalzel. His father wrote back, advising him to send for the nurse and remain here until he was stronger. Miss Dalzel came on, but the patient did not improve. Last week his father arrived and a visit to the South was decided upon, but in spite of the most careful nursing Dr. Eastman continued to grow worse. He asked his father to be sure and tell him when there was no more hope, as he had a particular reason for desiring to know. Monday morning he was told that the end was near.

"Then," said he, "I wish the ceremony to be no longer delayed. Please have a minister called at once."

An Episcopal clergyman was summoned, and at 11 o'clock, with the bridegroom barely able to make the responses, and the bride in tears at the bedside, Dr. Eastman and his faithful nurse were married. He spoke but a few times afterwards, and early yesterday afternoon died.

DEAR SIRS—Having had occasion to test the merits of your crown work on a member of my family, permit to say that I regard it as the most complete success of anything I have seen in the dental line. It is certainly beautiful. Very respectfully, J. B. JOHNSON, No. 304 N. 8th st., Turner Building.

We quote this only as a sample of the many in our possession.

We point with pride to our long-established reputation in St. Louis for doing first-class work. Our aim is to do a straightforward, honest business, keep up with the times in all valuable improvements and give our patrons the worth of their money.

In this cut we show some samples of our "crown work," which is practically the process of reconstructing a broken tooth.

These crowns do away with the necessity of extracting teeth if the roots are firm and strong, and make nice clean work in the mouth. No plate is necessary. This is the most wonderful invention known to the art of dentistry. We also do all kinds of Plate Work, Filling Teeth, Extracting and Treating Diseases of the Mouth. All our work will be first-class in every respect and charges moderate.

We use our freezing process or gas in extracting teeth.

FACED STORM AND FIRE.

THE PERILOUS VOYAGE OF THE BRITISH STEAMER UNIONIST.

During a Heavy Gale a Fierce Fire Starts in the Coal Bunkers—Officers and Men Fight the Flames Day and Night—Two Explosions of Coal Gas—The Ship Saved.

By Telegraph to the POST-DISPATCH.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—Running in the very teeth of a gale which tossed her like a chip on the waters, and with a red hot fire burning in one of her coal bunkers, which threatened to destroy the steamer, and which officers and crew worked day and night to subdue, is the history of a good part of the voyage of the big British steamer Unionist, which steamed into this port from Liverpool yesterday. It was on September 21 that the Unionist left Liverpool in ballast for New York. There was a heavy westerly gale blowing when the steamer left port. On the 24th the wind changed to the north-northwest and blew with almost hurricane force. A heavy cross-sea caused the big steamer to pitch so heavily that the sailors could hardly keep their feet, and at night they had to lash themselves in their bunks. On the 27th the storm abated slightly, but on the 29th the wind whipped around to the west-southwest, and on the morning of September 30, when the fire was first noticed, the Unionist was steaming against a gale which

ALMOST BURIED HER.

It was 5 o'clock in the morning, and the vessel was in latitude 44 degrees, 54 minutes north, longitude 37 degrees west, about mid-ocean, when Chief Officer Attenbrow saw a thin line of smoke forcing its way from underneath the bunker hatch on the port side of the bridge. He called Capt. Neale and together they lifted the hatch. A dense volume of black smoke poured from the hatchway, almost suffocating the Captain. All hands were at once summoned; the hatch was closed and every crevice filled with oakum. Two holes were cut in the hatch and barrels of water were poured into the bunker. At 10 o'clock the hatch was removed and two of the crew went down and began passing coal from the port bunker into the saddle back or cross hatch coal bunker. This bunker reaches entirely across the vessel and also acts as a feeder for the port and starboard bunker, from the bottom of which coal can be obtained in the fire room. There were 150 tons in the port bunker where the fire was. The men were relieved at 1 o'clock when Firemen James Farrell and T. Pearson took their places. Half an hour later the smoke and surphurous gases overcame the men. They were rescued with difficulty and did not recover consciousness for some time.

During this time the ship was pitching and tossing so that the men could hardly retain their feet. The hatch was closed again after the men were taken out and kept closed until 8 o'clock Tuesday morning with the hose constantly pouring water. Then the hatch was again reopened and the men were sent down in relays of two to again make an attempt

TO PUT OUT THE FIRE.

An officer had charge of each relay, and the men were relieved every fifteen minutes. At 7 o'clock the smoke and gas compelled them to stop work, and the hatch went on again, while the water played as before until 11 o'clock Wednesday morning, when the work of removing the coal was begun again. The storm had increased, and the men found it almost impossible to work. Still they kept on, urged by the officers, who took their share of the toil with the rest. More than twenty tons had been removed by 10 o'clock Wednesday night, when the deadly smoke and gas caused another cessation of work. Water was again poured through the hatch until Thursday noon, when it was drained from the bunker. Then all the top openings were closed and the doors underneath the bunker leading into the stock hole were opened. The men reached the top of the bunker at 1 o'clock that afternoon, and at 2:30 o'clock they reached red hot coal. Although blazing it was hoisted on deck in iron buckets through the cross hatch bunker, placed upon the iron deck and deluged with water. The men had removed two tons by 8:30 o'clock Friday evening, when the coal stopped running. There was nothing for it but to close all openings and turn on the hose again. The men, nearly suffocated with smoke and gas, were relieved.

AN EXPLOSION OF GAS.

At 2 o'clock Friday morning when Second Officer Helmming was on the bridge he heard a subdued report and saw the port bunker and the cross bunker hatches fly into the air, while a tongue of flame ran up nearly to the masthead. The gas had exploded. The hatches fell back into the bunkers, but were rescued with difficulty and again fastened down. The hose was turned on again, but at 3:10 there was another explosion and this time the port hatch struck Engineer Low on the head. He was not seriously hurt. The covered alley way on the port side was very hot and the fire-room was almost unbearable. Capt. Neale decided to cut a hole through the iron side of the bunker, and this was accomplished and the water turned on the blazing mass at 6 o'clock that morning. By 7:30 the fire was out. The Captain and engineer, exploring the bunker with an electric light, found only charred and wet coals. The Unionist was built of steel at Sunderland, England, in 1888, and is almost a new vessel.

BEAUMONT HOSPITAL DESTROYED.

The Building Burned to the Ground at a Late Hour Last Night.

Fire was discovered in the amphitheater of the Beaumont Hospital and Medical College building about 11 o'clock last night, and before the flames could be placed under control the structure was a complete wreck. The fire was first noticed by Max Bisso, the janitor, who attempted to extinguish the flames. He was unsuccesssful in this, and by reason of the delay and rapid spread of the fire the building was enveloped in flames before the Fire Department arrived. The firemen could then do nothing but turn their attention to the adjoining property. The loss is placed at $25,000, on which there is an insurance of only $10,000. The fixtures, wax figures, etc., increase the loss about $25,000, and added to this is a loss of about $14,000 to Dr. Waldo Briggs, who had a private museum and some fine instruments in the college. The Bissos lose about $1,000 worth of furniture. The origin of the fire is a mystery.

The college was at one time the property of the First Presbyterian Church, from which it was purchased by the Beaumont College and Hospital faculty. It cost about $12,000 and as much more was expended in repairs, $5,000 only a month ago. The hospital had a day and night ambulance service and the college had an attendance of about one hundred and twenty-five daily. There were two patients in the clinic room, Joseph Mellen and Frank Edgerton, at the time of the fire, but they were removed without injury. Assistant Chief Barry and Julius Pillman of the No. 4 Hook and Ladder were slightly injured by a falling wall.

The faculty of the college this morning determined to resume the classes, which are very large, on Friday morning. Several satisfactory locations are at their disposal, and the one selected will be announced to-morrow. It was learned this morning that outside of the heavy personal losses of Drs. Outen, Briggs, Laidley and Chancellor a fine collection of charts and anatomical specimens was lost. The college is in a flourishing condition, however, and will go right ahead.

Death of Alex. Kinkaed.

Late yesterday afternoon a telegram was received from Bearden, Ark., announcing the death of Capt. Alex. Kinkead, who, as reported in the POST-DISPATCH, had been injured on the railroad. His son Walter was with him when he expired. Capt. Kincaid left the train at Best's Mills and walked up to a store with his sample cases. When the next train came along, which did not stop regularly at the station, he attempted to board it, but missed his footing and fell under the wheels, which passed over his arm and hand. His left hip was also badly crushed and he was internally injured by the brake beam striking his left breast.

The Henry George Land Question.

An interesting debate is promised for this evening at Benton Station, in the "big hall," between Minor Merriwether and William C. Little of this city. It will be on the "Henry George Land Question." Both of these gentlemen have given considerable study to the matter, and some new ideas are expected to be advanced.
